LONG ISLAND (N. Y.) MARRIAGES AND DEATHS FROM THE "SUFFOLK GAZETTE."

COMMUNICATED BY RUFUS KING, ESQ., OF YONKERS, N. Y.

THE following list of marriages and deaths was copied from the Suffolk Gazette, a weekly newspaper published by Alden Spooner, Esq., at Sag Harbor, Suffolk County, Long Island, N. Y., between the years 1804 and 1809. A file of this paper, now in the possession of a descendant of Mr. Spooner, has been kindly loaned the writer for the purpose of compiling these records. Inquiry has been made at all of the libraries in New York City and Brooklyn, and it seems probable that there is no other copy of the Suffolk Gazette in existence.

Apropos of Long Island newspapers, it is stated that the oldest one was the Long Island Herald, published at Sag Harbor in May, 1791, by David Frothingham. This paper was sold to Selleck Osborn in 1802, when the name was changed to The Suffolk County Herald. In 1804, Mr. Alden Spooner assumed the editorship, and the title was again changed to that of Suffolk Gazette, and publication continued until 1811, when it ceased. The Suffolk County Recorder was started in 1816, and the Sag Harbor Corrector came into existence in 1822. The dates in the left hand column are those of the issue of the Gazette.

Nine years after the publication of his book, Griffin died and was buried in his native town. The inscription on his tombstone reads: "Augustus Griffin d Mar 10, 1866 AE 99 yrs 1 mo 8 days. Author of Griffin's Journal, or History of Southold." His old home, used also as general store and hotel, has been converted by the Oyster Ponds Historical Society into the main building of their museum.

The North Fork of Griffin's time was sparsely settled, its families bound together by the ties of relationship. Because of proximity of Oyster Ponds and Shelter Island, the journals have many references to the latter place. Griffin's wife, Lucretia, was born a Tuthill, and Mary Havens Tuthill, his mother-in-law, sold him property she owned on the West Neck of Shelter Island in 1806. He often visited this property where he raised cattle, cut wood, and gathered cherries and blackberries. His entries about the island start at the time that General Dering was still alive and maintaining a hospitable open house. They continue during the period, after Dering's death, when the island sank back into further rural obscurity. Most of the following excerpts from the unpublished journals were selected because they refer to Shelter Island, but others are included because they reflect the way people lived on the North Fork in that time.

July 25—This month I purchased me a building lot, near the Harbour, at Oyster Ponds Harbour, of Captain Jeremiah Young's, ½ acre for 50 dollars.

August—Bought, of Squire Thomas Youngs, Timber for building me a house on my land, which I purchased a short time since—my neighbors with their teams collected, and drawed the house for me, without fee or reward, for which I tended them my hearty thanks.

September 14—A squally day with thunder and rain. At home this eve.... I went to Shelter Island and got home some wood.

October 19—A.M. John C. Rudd, a school teacher on Shelter Island, visited us this day at my house—stopped with us the night.

Sabbath, October 20—Some rain, wind S. Rudd leaves us this day for the Island. He appears to be determined to improve in education.

Sabbath, October 27—Died, on Sabbath last, about 2 p.m. Jonathan N. Havens Esquire, a Representative in the Congress of these United States—said to be a very valuable member of that body and truly a man greatly beloved.

October 30—Killed me a beef which I had off West Neck, Shelter Island, a bit of land owned by our mother Tuthill.

November 18—High wind W went to Shelter Island with brother Warren and got 3 sheep, in a small boat—had a rough, and, I think, a rather dangerous time—howsomever we arrived home safe, and much wearied.

Sabbath December 29—Visited at my school by Mr. John C. Rudd, Shelter Island teacher.

January 6—Had a line from Mr. J.C. Rudd with verses on our little infant Clara.

January 7—Wrote to Mr. J.C. Rudd. He intends by dint of study and perseverance, he says to become well versed in every science and useful acquirement for the orator, statesman, or preacher. (Note in Griffin's hand, penciled in margin: He was admitted and licensed to preach as an Episcopalean under the tuition of Bishop Moore, 1805.)

January 9—Light NW wind. Died yesterday very suddenly Mrs. Ziporah Brown, wife of Captn John Brown of Ram Island. She was an excellent woman, all such a one as Solomon says is a crown to her husband. She was about 40 years of age. Has been the affectionate mother of 10 children, nearly all of which are left to mourn her irreperable loss.

March 25—Fair clear sky. This evening Joshua Rackett and myself visited Mr. Rudd at General Derings, Shelter Island, with him the night. Took breakfast at the General's.

April—The last of this month departed this life Doctor Jonathan Havens.... He has left a handsome property, in personal and real estate to his eight surviving children; four sons and four daughters—a fertile farm of four hundred acres, within about two miles of the flourishing village of Sag Harbour. His age about 67. (Havens was brother of Griffin's mother-in-law. Editor)

1806

It was in the spring of this year I purchased of my wife's mother (Mary Tuthill) a piece of land on Shelter Island what has been called and yet is called "a West End Right." The said piece of land contains about sixty acres.

1808

Built this summer a picket fence around my garden dooryard etc. Set out 6 handsome English cherry trees—Captain Jeremiah Young and myself purchased each of us a wooden clock for the sum of twenty dollars each. We believe they were the first of the kind ever known in the town and very likely in the county.

1811

In December went to New York with Capt. Jonathan Terry, his vessel, the Roman, a small sloop. After laying in a stock of winter goods we set sail for Oyster Ponds, on the 22 Dec 1811. On the 24th about 11 AM we met two sloops near Fortune's Island, opposite Old Guilford on their way to New York....One of the said vessels was a new and completely built sloop, owned in part, and commanded, by Davis Conkling of East Hampton....The other vessel was from Cutchogue, commanded by a Mr. Wells. E'er the next morning before sun rise, this last vessel was lost with every person on board...We in the Roman arrived home and got on shore to our families just before midnight on the 24th....

Frederick Tabor in the sloop Seaflower of our place, came into our harbor about 20 minutes after us, but the storm was beginning. They cast out their anchors—the windlass tore away. The vessel drifted on to Ram Island and Taber with his crew and passengers, much exhausted, and near perishing with cold, reached the hospitable abode of Mr. Thomas Tuthill where they were kindly attended to and made comfortable.

We are now in the midst of a bloody and unreasonable war, with what we have been taught to call our Mother Country. The British ships of war are now in Gardners Bay, the Sound, and off New London daily. Two or three 74's and Frigates, Commandores Hardy and Capel, with Captains Burdett and Coote etc. They often land and come to my house, are civil and respectful. Hardy's Lieuts with a barge crew came to my house a day or two after they had taken off Joshua Penny.... Sound's being infested with Nova Scotia privateers I hired a 2 horse wagon to go by land to New York after goods.

1814

In the summer of this year the British with their barges took a handsome sloop near Shelter Island belonging to Captain Trip (?) of New Bedford.

1820

July 12—Went to Shelter Island and gathered a quantity of English cherries of General Dering.

July 24—Went to Shelter Island—took dinner with Mr. Samuel B. Nicoll—on my return stopped a short time with Thomas Tuthill, at Ram Island.

F. ADELBERT PIKE, editor and proprietor of the Riverhead Courier, was born at Glens Falls, N. Y., October 24, 1866. His father, Aaron F., a native of Warren County, this state, was a printer by trade, and for some time carried on a book-binding and job-printing establishment. For several years he served as Chief of the Glens Falls fire department. He died in that village in 1879. The mother of our subject, who bore the maiden name of Mary E. Norris, was born in Sutton, Vt., and is at present residing in Glens Falls. Her father, Welcome Norris, who was a carriage manufacturer, removed from Vermont to New York, settling in Glens Fall, where he continued to reside until death. He was a man of considerable influence among his fellow-citizens, and took an active part in the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The family of Aaron F. Pike consisted of three children, namely: F. Adelbert; Walter D., an engineer at Glens Falls; and Gertrude B., who is with her mother. Our subject was educated in his native village, and there, too, he learned the printer's trade in his father's office. His father, however, died when he was a lad of thirteen, so he did not have the advantage of his help and counsel. In different parts of the country he has followed the printing business, having been thus engaged in Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Providence, Auburn, N. Y., Rutland, Vt., and New York City. For a time he was editor of the Corinthian at Corinth, this state, and also had the editorship of the Daily News at Troy. In the spring of 1895 he came to Riverhead and established the Courier, of which he is now proprietor and editor.

In 1888 Mr. Pike married Miss Rosella Martin, of Glens Falls, and they have one child, Ethel May. He is a successful newspaper man, active, energetic and ambitious, and has already brought his paper, which is independent in politics, into prominence among the people of this locality.

CAPT. MALAGA SMITH, who is a prominent factor of Suffolk County, as was his father before him, forms the subject of this notice. He has passed many active years of his life on the high seas, and is now living retired, surrounded by all the comforts which a good income can provide.

Mr. Smith was born in the place where he now makes his home, in East Patchogue, in 1830. He is the son of Barney and Sallie M. (Dan) Smith, the former of whom was born on the old home place, where he spent his entire life when not on the sea. He began his career as a sailor when quite young, but subsequently gave his attention to farming, in which industry he was remarkably successful. He was progressive and energetic and kept his estate under advanced improvement until the time of his death, in 1857. His estimable wife was also born in this county.

The paternal grandfather of our subject, Barnabas Smith, was probably born in the same community where Capt. Malaga now lives, and which territory was then inhabited very largely by the Indians. The original of this sketch attended the district school until about fourteen years of age, and, although they were greatly inferior to the schools of to-day and the term was only three months in length, he made the most of his opportunities and gained a fair knowledge of the common branches taught there. Before attaining his fifteenth year he left the parental roof, and, going to New York City, shipped on a full-rigged brig and celebrated his birthday at Trieste, Italy. He remembers being sent on that day to nail some boxes, and being supplied on this occasion with wire nails, which were used entirely in Italy. This was forty years before their introduction into America.

The third voyage which Mr. Smith made he was second mate of the vessel and on the fourth trip was promoted to be first mate. When next putting out to sea he was master of the ship on which he sailed. During the number of years in which he was on the high seas he visited nearly every port of importance in Africa, visited the Canary Islands, besides anchoring at the important ports of Europe. During the last five years he was engaged in the rubber trade in South America, which business he found to be very profitable.

For some time he commanded the vessel which carried the mail from New York to South America. One of his rivals, B. J. Weinburg, was very anxious to get the contract, and built a clipper to contest speed with Mr. Smith's vessel. The voyage of four thousand two hundred miles was made in nineteen days and six hours, with Captain Smith as the winner. His rival had a hat made for him in New York City at a cost of $16, in which was the following inscription: "Presented to Capt. Malaga Smith by B. J. Weinburg for beating his clipper from New York to South America, June 30, 1874." The Captain wore this hat for twelve years, and it is still very presentable, although perhaps a little "old style."

Captain Smith returned to his home in Suffolk County in 1878, and that year built the comfortable residence which he now occupies with his family. He was married, in September, 1865, to Miss Mary E., daughter of Amos and Nancy Hulse, prominent people of this county. Two sons survive of their union, named, respectively, Gilbert P. and Jonah, both residents of East Patchogue. Mrs. Smith and her sons are members in good standing of the Congregational Church. Socially the Captain is a Mason of high degree, and in politics is a stanch supporter of Republican principles. On this ticket he was elected Trustee of the town of Brook Haven, which office he still holds. He is enterprising and prominent in the affairs of his community, and makes friends of all whom he meets.

CHARLES W. AVERY. The patrons of agriculture in Suffolk County, L. I., have a worthy representative in the person of Charles W. Avery, who is also engaged extensively in the real-estate business. He is a product of Patchogue, L. I., born in 1854, and his parents, Humphrey and Susan (Case) Avery, were natives of the same place. During his lifetime the father was prominently identified with agricultural pursuits, but was also engaged quite extensively in the dairying business. Aside from this, he was a quiet, unassuming man, well respected and liked by all. His death occurred in 1889. His wife had passed away in May, 1878.

Charles W. Avery received good educational advantages during his youth, and first attended the schools of Patchogue, this county. Later he entered the Bridgehampton Literary Institute, where he received a thorough training. He was reared on a farm, and, as he had a natural taste for tilling the soil, that has continued to be his

Clipper Captain Malaga Smith

By Thomas R. Bayles

The Brooklyn Eagle of February 22, 1907, carried an article about the death of Captain Malaga Smith who was born in East Patchogue in 1830. It described an interesting ocean race in which Captain Smith won the contract for carrying the United States mails from New York to South America in 1874.

Capt. Smith's vessel had for some time held the mail carrying contract, and one of his rivals, B. J. Weinburg, was anxious to get it away from him. He built a fast clipper ship with which to beat the Long Islander. When the race was started from New York on the long voyage of 4,200 miles each captain was given a hearty send off, and then each did his best to win the race.

At the end of 20 days Capt. Smith brought his ship into port several hours ahead of Weinburg's clipper, and made the voyage in exactly 19 days and six hours.

Capt. Weinburg, in recognition of his successful rival's victory, presented "Capt. Mag" as he was familiarly known hereabouts, with a fine stovepipe hat in the crown of which was written: "Presented to Capt. Malaga Smith by B. J. Weinburg for beating his clipper from New York to South America, June 30, 1874. Capt. Smith wore the hat for 15 years and highly prized it.

Capt. Smith was a prominent seafaring man, and also a leading politician in his native town. He left school at 14 years of age to ship aboard a full rigged brig bound for Italy. He rose rapidly and made his fourth voyage as master of the vessel, and during his active life visited nearly every port in the world. He retired in 1878, took up farming and was prominent in local politics, serving as town trustee and highway commissioner.

He died in 1907, leaving a widow and two sons, Gilbert P. Smith of Brooklyn and Jonas Smith of East Patchogue.

nor of the Province of New York and made a member of the Council.

The noted Judge Thomas Jones wrote of Elliot: "He was kind, friendly, and hospitable to his countrymen and friends; was generous to the poor; was a gentleman born and had a good heart." Some of the American leaders had great respect, as is shown by Elliot's account of the meeting held at Tappen in 1783 between himself and Sir Guy Carleton on the one side and General Washington and Governor Clinton on the other. "General Washington," he wrote, "was particularly civil to me, renewed our old acquaintance, and he was so good as to pay me many compliments on the character I had supported in the office I filled at N.Y. and Gov. Clinton did the same; and all assure me my Estate in this Province is safe."

Despite the courtesy and good will towards him on the part of such Americans as Washington, Clinton and Elias Boudinot, Elliot felt that it he remained in America he could be neither happy nor safe. He therefore sent his family to Scotland in July 1783, and followed them in December. He retired from public life and in 1790 rejected a proposal that he serve as British Minister to the United States. He died at Mount Teviot in Scotland on 25 May 1797.

The list of inhabitants of Suffolk County, New York, which was compiled for Governor Tryon in 1778 probably came into the possession of Mr. Elliot as Superintendent-General of the Ordinary Police or as Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of New York. It is likely that the document was compiled by a Tory or Tories in order to indicate by the words "not returned" [indicated below by an asterisk] those persons who had fled from Long Island and whose allegiance was to the American cause. The list, recently acquired from Scotland by the New York State Library in Albany, is here published by kind permission of the Library. It is a follows, with names given in alphabetical order:

1830 US Census, Roll 103, NY, Suffolk CO, Town of Brookhaven, pg 166,lists: under Jabez Dann (note 2 N's): Free White Males: 1 bw 20-30; 1 bw 40-50; Free White Females: 2 bw 15-20; 1 bw 20-30; 1 bw 40-50. In an adjoining household, under John Dann, are FWM: 1 under 5; 1 bw 20-30; FWF: 1 under 5; 1 bw 20-30.

Death: Letters from his dau-in-law Mary Dann to Cornelia Dan Porter doc. he is alive on 30 Apr 1829 (Letter #1); dead before 6 Aug 1843 (Letter #2). His widow married Nathaniel Smith, who died in 1837, so Jabez must have been dead by 1835.

CHILD 2 - Sarah(Sally) M. DAN-92

Married 25 Apr 1801 to Abraham Grey Keeler.
Often referred to in Aunt Mary Dan's letters to Antoinette as Aunt Sally.
He is referred to in a later letter by Cousin Louise Wilson as Grey Keeler.

CHILD 3 - Mary DAN-93

I think (from the letters) she is Aunt Mary Rockwell.

CHILD 4 - Anne DAN-94

I think she is Aunt Anne Howell in the letters.

HUSBAND - John BROWN Captain-95

Doc: GRIFFIN'S JOURNAL, ABSTRACTED M & D NOTICES LONG ISLAND STAR & BROOKLYN EVENING STAR (1809-1846)

Marriage of daughter Polly recorded in THE SUFFOLK GAZETTE, where she is recorded as "the amiable daughter of Capt. John Brown (of Oyster Ponds).

Griffin recorded death of his wife Phebe, as "wife of John Brown (better known as Capt. John Brown).

Abstracted card file from LONG ISLAND STAR & BROOKLYN EVENING STAR records marriage of "Sybil, dau. of John Brown" at Oyster Ponds 24 Apr 1832.

WIFE - Phebe TABOR-96

Doc: LONG ISLAND STAR & BROOKLYN EVENING STAR marriage & death notices [1809-1846], abstracted card file, GRIFFIN'S JOURNAL, Brooklyn Hist. Soc.

IGI 1994 Ed (F#1903894) gives b. abt 1775, place Rhode Island. If Polly was her daughter, she must have been born earlier. Needs ver.

Griffin, in his journal, wrote "Thursday November 24 1841. Phebe, the frugal, attentive, virtuous wife of John Brown (better known as Capt. John Brown) died very suddenly aged [not filled in]. She was the 3rd daughter of Mr. Amon & Sibil Tabor of this place (Orient).

The abstracted newspaper files also recorded her death: Brown, Phebe wife of Capt. John d. Orient Nov 24 1841

CHILD 1 - Polly BROWN-97

Doc: Letter from her granddaughter Louise Dann Wilson written Feb. 23, 1868 says "(Grandmother)..is not as well as usual this winter but we cannot expect it. She is getting along well in years. I think she is over 80." [If that is accurate, birth date est abt 1785. If birth year listed by ALPK is correct, she would have been 92. Birth date needs to be verified.]

From a letter Louise wrote April 14, 1872 [see file], we know Polly was living in NYC with her daughter Mary Wilson, & "as spry as a cricket." In another letter, written Jan 24, 1877, Viola Porter announces Polly's death by saying "I received your leter with the sad news of grandma's death last week... It was very unexpected news and too I cannot but feel sad and glomy although I never see (sic) Grandma she seemed very dear. I thought of her often & oh how I wished some time to see her on earth......." A last reference to her is in another letter that Louise Dan Wilson wrote to ALPK in 1880, when she spoke of the fact that she had "never seen Aunt Sarah or Aunt Mary since Grandma died."

Her first husband, Jabez, was never mentioned after the first known family letter, written in 1829. She had married Nathaniel Smith some time before he died in 1837. [Nathaniel was the brother of Barna SMith, who married Polly's sister Sallie].After that, she lived for some time in the home he had owned with his son Nelson. From about 1859 on, she was always referred to in the letters as living either with her daughter Sallie Dann Smith or her daughter Mary Dann Wilson.

HUSBAND John BROWN Captain-95 Yr of Birth 1759
WIFE Phebe TABOR-96 Yr of Birth 1760

A letter from Viola Porter to her sister Antoinette tells the story of their grandmother Polly's death. On January 28, 1877, Vie wrote " I received your letter with the sad news of Grandmas death last week while at Celia's. I must say it was very unexpected news and too I cannot but feel sad and gloomy although I never see Grandma she seemed very dear. I thought of her often & oh how I wished some time to see her." [Letter #74 King-Porter Family Letters] The news had come to Antoinette in a letter from her cousin Louise Dann Wilson. Unfortunately that letter is not in the collection of letters saved.

Polly was most likely living with her daughter Mary Wilson at the time of her death although no documentation has been found to date. [Letter in file from Louise Wilson Drinker placed Mary Wilson as living in Patchogue at the time of her (Mary's) death. Earlier, the Wilsons were living in NYC. Both are possible sites of Polly's death & should be checked.]

In the back of the 2nd vol. of her diary (found by RKF in 1994), ALPK wrote a genealogical list, prob. before she composed the one in file. In this list, she wrote "1776 Polly Brown Dann". On the same line, in the same handwriting, darker ink, it says "born". It seems extremely unlikely that Polly could have been born in 1776 as she would then have been age 111 at her death. We really canot even guess what Antoinette meant when she wrote it.

HUSBAND - Jabez DAN-91

Doc: IGI 1994 Ed; Censuses; marriage notice; family letters

Marriage recorded in THE SUFFOLK GAZETTE, pg 87 :"1806. Mar 31. At Oysterponds, Jabish Dan, of Danbury, to the amiable Polly, dau. of Capt. John Brown." [The Gazette was published weekly by Alden Spooner, Esq., at Sag Harbor, Suffolk Co., Long Island, NY, between 1804 & 1809]

1830 US Census, Roll 103, NY, Suffolk CO, Town of Brookhaven, pg 166,lists: under Jabez Dann (note 2 N's): Free White Males: 1 bw 20-30; 1 bw 40-50; Free White Females: 2 bw 15-20; 1 bw 20-30; 1 bw 40-50. In an adjoining household, under John Dann, are FWM: 1 under 5; 1 bw 20-30; FWF: 1 under 5; 1 bw 20-30.

Death: Letters from his dau-in-law Mary Dann to Cornelia Dan Porter doc. he is alive on 30 Apr 1829 (Letter #1); dead before 6 Aug 1843 (Letter #2). His widow married Nathaniel Smith, who died in 1837, so Jabez must have been dead by 1835.

RESEARCH QUESTIONS:

1. Check out findings from IGI (LDS FHC)

WIFE - Polly BROWN-97

Doc: ALPK holographic genealogy & journal

Doc: Letter from her granddaughter Louise Dann Wilson written Feb. 23, 1868 says "(Grandmother)..is not as well as usual this winter but we cannot expect it. She is getting along well in years. I think she is over 80." [If that is accurate, birth date est abt 1785. If birth year listed by ALPK is correct, she would have been 92. Birth date needs to be verified.]

From a letter Louise wrote April 14, 1872 [see file], we know Polly was living in NYC with her daughter Mary Wilson, & "as spry as a cricket." In another letter, written Jan 24, 1877, Viola Porter announces Polly's death by saying "I received your leter with the sad news of grandma's death last week... It was very unexpected news and too I cannot but feel sad and glomy although I never see (sic) Grandma she seemed very dear. I thought of her often & oh how I wished some time to see her on earth......." A last reference to her is in another letter that Louise Dan Wilson wrote to ALPK in 1880, when she spoke of the fact that she had "never seen Aunt Sarah or Aunt Mary since Grandma died."

Her first husband, Jabez, was never mentioned after the first known family letter, written in 1829. She had married Nathaniel Smith some time before he died in 1837. [Nathaniel was the brother of Barna SMith, who married Polly's sister Sallie].After that, she lived for some time in the home he had owned with his son Nelson. From about 1859 on, she was always referred to in the letters as living either with her daughter Sallie Dann Smith or her daughter Mary Dann Wilson.

A letter from Viola Porter to her sister Antoinette tells the story of their grandmother Polly's death. On January 28, 1877, Vie wrote " I received your letter with the sad news of Grandmas death last week while at Celia's. I must say it was very unexpected news and too I cannot but feel sad and gloomy although I never see Grandma she seemed very dear. I thought of her often & oh how I wished some time to see her." [Letter #74 King-Porter Family Letters] The news had come to Antoinette in a letter from her cousin Louise Dann Wilson. Unfortunately that letter is not in the collection of letters saved.

HUSBAND Jabez DAN-91 Yr of Birth 1788
WIFE Polly BROWN-97 Yr of Birth 1788

Polly was most likely living with her daughter Mary Wilson at the time of her death although no documentation has been found to date. [Letter in file from Louise Wilson Drinker placed Mary Wilson as living in Patchogue at the time of her (Mary's) death. Earlier, the Wilsons were living in NYC. Both are possible sites of Polly's death & should be checked.]

In the back of the 2nd vol. of her diary (found by RKF in 1994), ALPK wrote a genealogical list, prob. before she composed the one in file. In this list, she wrote "1776 Polly Brown Dann". On the same line, in the same handwriting, darker ink, it says "born". It seems extremely unlikely that Polly could have been born in 1776 as she would then have been age 111 at her death. We really canot even guess what Antoinette meant when she wrote it.

CHILD 1 - Cornelia Ann DAN-65
Doc: ALPK holo. gen.

This truly pioneer woman, born of a seafaring Long Island family, traveled with her husband & young family from an urban life in early Manhattan through the unsettled wilds of the mid-west, stopping & dying at an early age in the primitive & undeveloped rural Wisconsin. Her brother's wife, Mary Brown Dan, who never left Long Island, wrote letters to Cornelia as long as she lived, then continued her correspondence with Cornelia's daughter Antoinette, newly settled settled in rural Minnesota, and the family ties remained intact throughout both lifetimes as well as those of both their daughters.

RKF & JGF have visited the place where Cornelia was born, her early home in New York City after her marriage, the rural Wisconsin county where she lived the remainder of her life, and the very home on Long Island from which her sister-in-law Mary wrote her letters. We know Cornelia from her own letters to her fiance & later to him as her husband,as well as from her daughter Antoinette's references to her in her journal. So it was especially poignant to RKF & JGF in 1990 to rediscover her grave in the lovely small, well kept and peaceful cemetery where she rests next to her husband and four of her children: Lebbeus, William, Irve & Viola. (Photographs in file)

Her death was obviously sudden & unexpected. Interviews with members of the Adams Cemetery Association in 1992 established that she was the first person to die in Troy Twp.. The association was formed in response to her death, the organizing meeting being held 6 October, 1849, little more than two weeks after her death. Land for the cemetery was given by neighbors, the Chatfield family & later it was given the name Adams Cemetery. (See Porter note in file for more details).

CHILD 2 - John B. DANN-109

Name spelled either Dan or Dann. Earliest letters use Dan, later ones Dann. B. may have been for Brown, his mother's maiden name

1870 US Census NY, Suffolk Co., Town of Brookhaven, lists: Dann, John B., age 64, Seaman, b. NY; Mary, 62, b. NY; Wilson, Louisa, 35, b. NY; Mary Wilson, 3, b. NY; Wm. R. [Armstrong], 1, b. NY.

On the same census, living nearby, are two families that may have meaning for this family: Ebenezer Hulse & John & Mary Tuthill. (See Dann file for copy of census)

Death:

Almost certainly buried in old cemetery in Bellport, but have not found proof

CHILD 3 - Sarah M. "Sallie" DAN-110

Doc: Birth date taken from 1850 US Census. 1870 census gave her age as 53, which would make her birth date 1817.

She was Janice Smith Brightwell's Great-Grandmother (Janice lives in New Haven, CT. We were put in touch with each other in 1988 by the Librarian of the Suffolk Co. Historical Society. JGF & RKF spent several days on Long Island inthe summer of 1989, staying at Janice's summer home in Southampton & conducting research. See Dann Notes in file)

Much information about her in letters to ALPK from Mary Dann. She was mentioned in almost every letter. In the first, dated April 30, 1829, Mary Dann wrote to Cornelia about many family matters, among them an extended reference to what seems to have been an imminent engagement, possibly to Barna Smith, whom she married sometime in the next year. On August 6, 1843, Mary wrote about the local excitement with Millerism, and said "Sally is one of the converts". After the death of her husband (about 1860), first Mary, then Louise wrote frequently that Sally was visiting one or another of her numerous children who lived in several locations on Long Island or at Mystic, Connecticut; that she was in comfortable circumstances and well cared for. A letter in 1869 said she had been quite sick with "billious fever". However, she obviously recovered because in a letter dated May 1871, Cousin Louise wrote "Aunt Sarah has nothing to do but take comfort. Her children have married pretty well off. She now has two daughters and a son to marry off. They are all very gay. Aunt Sarah is full of fun and likes a dance as well as she did forty years ago. She belongs to no church and her children are all like her......."(Sallie at this time was 57 years old!)

The 1870 US Census, NY, Suffolk Co., Brookhaven Twp., 1 June 1870, Roll 954, pg 922, Dwelling #4 (same as for Nornam & Phebe Smith, her daughter & son-in-law), Family # 922, lists: Smith, Sally, age 53, b. NY; Smith, Frank B., age 17, b. NY; Smith, Emily F., age 16, b. NY

Source of date of death: Letter from Antoinette Porter King to her husband

HUSBAND Jabez DAN-91 Yr of Birth 1788
WIFE Polly BROWN-97 Yr of Birth 1788

Wm. Vipen King on April 16, 1884, in which she said the information came in a letter from Cousin Louise. (That letter from Louise is not in the family file) Not sure where she was buried, but it most likely be either at Bellport or Mystic, Ct. Needs further research.

CHILD 4 - Mary DAN-111

Doc: Family letters, IGI file Mormon Library (Marriage)

Married to William Wilson. Often referred to in letters as Aunt Mary Wilson. He was in the steam boat business.

Lived in NYC, then Bayridge, Brooklyn, then in New Jersey, finally moved back to NYC, prob. died there.

Frequently mentioned in family letters from Mary Dann, then from her daughter Louise Dann Wilson

CHILD 5 - Phebe DAN-112

Age det by 1830 Census. Listed as "under 5"

Doc marriage to Lyman Smith: Family file for Letter #2 dated 6 Aug 1843

RESEARCH QUESTION: Could she have later married Wm. C. Beale? (Woodland Cem. inscription--see file)

HUSBAND - Barnabus SMITH-818

Doc: PORTRAIT AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD, Suffolk Co., Chapman Pub. Co. 1896 Ref.#920 SC; also Dann-Porter family letters; US Census; Probate Records, will

Above biographical record, in a biographical sketch of his grandson Malaga Smith, says "The paternal grandfather of our subject, Barnabus Smith, was probably born in the same community [East Patchogue] where Capt. Malaga now lives, and which territory was then largely inhabited by the Indians...."

In the 1830 US Census, NY, Suffolk Co., Brookhaven, household of Nathaniel Smith, his son, there is a FWM age bw 60-70 which could be him, although other records indicate he was only 55 that year.

Death date est. by letter from Mary Dann to Cornelia Dann Porter dated March 12, 1845, in which she says "....I suppose that Aunt Caty informed you of the death of Barney's father last summer....". Also, his will (Liber 4, pg. 263, Serrogate Court of Suffolk County). The last will & testament of Barnabus Smith dated 22 Sept 1838 and probated 13 Sept 1844. "In the name of God, Amen. I Barnabus Smith of Brookhaven, County of Suffolk in the State of New York, being of sound disposing mind and understanding do hereby make, publish and declare this my last will and testament in manner and form following. That is to say, first I give unto Polly Smith, widow of my son Nathaniel, the use of one half of the dwelling house in which the said Nathaniel lived so long as she remains a widow. Second, I give, devise and bequeath unto my grandson, Nelson Smith, the following piece or parcel of land lying in the neck bounded as follows viz., beginning on William Smith's line at the west end of an old ditch and running eastward by and with the ditch to the road that leads out of the neck, then running southeastwardly by the road to a stake standing northwestward of the house, then eastward cropping the roadto a pine tree marked standing near the east road, then southward to another pine tree marked, then westward to the fence south of the house and on westward by and with the fence to William Smith's line to the place of beginning by the same......more or less with the building's and improvements. Also a piece of meadow bounded southeastwardly by the path that leads to the meadow from William Smith's along said path about 17 rods to a stake and running westward holding the same width from said William Smith's ditch until it makes three acres with the privilege of the road or pathway leading to the meadow. Also to him, said Nelson, one undivided half of the west strand with the privilege of the road thereunto. Also the privilege of the roads out of the neck to the country road, reserving however to my sons Charles and Barna and to their heirs the privilege of the road crossing the first mentioned land near the house. All the above mentioned lands and meadows to said Nelson, his heirs and assigns, he however paying to his brother Isaac and his five sisters $25 each. Third, I give and bequeath unto my daughter Sophia Bell $125. Fourth, I give and bequeath unto my granddaughters Catherine Hallock and Sally Hudson $25 each. Fifth, I give and bequeath unto my grandchildren Sarah Tooker, John Tooker and Maryanndella Tooker $50 to be divided equally between them. Sixth, I give, devise and bequeath unto my son Charles, his heirs and assigns the dwelling house in which I now live together with the barn and outbuildings with one acre of land on which the said house and buildings stand. Also all the hogs and pork which shall be on hand at my decease and 2/3 of the grain of every kind. Seventh, I give and bequeath unto my son Barna, his heirs and assigns, one acre of land on which his dwelling house and buildings stand, also 1/3 of the grain of every kind which will be on hand at my decease. Eighth, I give and bequeath unto my two sons, Charles and Barna, their heirs and assigns all the residue of my estate, real and personal, they however paying the legacies before mentioned. Lastly, I do here nominate and appoint my two sons, aforesaid Charles and Barna together with my good friend William Beale executors of this my last will and testament and hereby expressly revoke all and every former will by me made. In witness whereof I havehereunto set my hand and seal the 22nd day of September in the year of our Lord 1838. Signed Barnabus Smith (LS) Signed, sealed, published and declared by the testator to be his last will and testament in the presence of us who at his request became witnesses. Signed David B. Beale of Brookhaven, Mulford Hedges of Brookhaven. It is therefore ordered that the said last will and testament with the proofs be recorded. Signed C.A.Floyd, Serrogate."

WIFE - Esther-4497

Doc: Suffolk County Records, Riverhead, L.I. "Intestate Records of Suffolk Co. recorded at Riverhead......"Ruth Mulford, Brookhaven, died (?) 18 Jan 1827. No relatives nearer than a brother, unnamed, residence unknown, and a sister, Esther, wife of Barnabus Smith, who declines (to administer?). See Dann Notes for complete ref.)

CHILD 1 - Nathaniel SMITH-4498

Doc: Father's will; Dann-Porter letters; his probate records, censuses

1820 US Census NY, Suffolk Co, Brookhaven, Roll #74, p. 348: Head of Family: Nathaniel Smith; Free White Males: 3 under 10; 1 bw 26-45; Free White Females: 2 under 10; 1 bw 10-16; 1 bw 26-45. Occupation:Agriculture

1830 US Census (same site as above), Roll 103, pg 170: Nathaniel Smith; FWM: 1 under 5; 1 bw 15-20; 1 bw 20-30; 1 bw 60-70; FWF: 1 bw 5-10; 1 bw 10-15; 1 bw 40-50

Name of first wife not known. The children listed in the above censuses are his children with her. She obviously died some time after the 1830 census and before his death in 1837, as he was married to Polly Brown Dann, widow of Jabez Dann, by then. He had no children with Polly. Many of his children are mentioned in Aunt Mary Dan's letters.

His father's will makes reference to Nathaniel's sons Nelson and Isaac and Nelson's "five sisters". Mary Dan's letters refer to Sophia, Ruth, Debby, Esther, Hannah & Elisa Ann--obviously family members, some of whom could be these sisters, or they could be his daughters. (From the census data, he seems to have had at least 4 daughters & 4 sons.) No other clues to who they might be. Needs further research.

Probate Record: (from Suffolk County Records, Riverhead, L.I., WIL004) from probate records at the time of the death of Nathaniel Smith, who died intestate. Microfilm, Serrogate Court of Suffolk County. "In the matter of the administration of the goods, chattels and credits of Nathaniel Smith deceased, intestate, letters dated December, 1837.....(going on in the middle of handwritten document, apparently referring to his brother Charles and friend Nathaniel Miller as the appointed executors). He should consider the probable value of the said deceased would be about $150, that the said deceased left a widow, Polly Smith, and three sisters who are of lawful age, to wit: Esther Rider, wife of Charles Rider, Lusirot (illegible) Smith, and Deborah Beale, wife of William C. Beale, and four minor children without guardians---that the said widow and children of lawful age have renounced their right to administrate, that he also left a father who is aged [undoubtedly Barnabus Smith] and in the opinion of your petitioner incompetent to administrate, that your petitioner is a brother of the same deceased and by law next entitled to administrate therefore request that letters of administration may be granted to him. Dated 6 December 1837.

Also included in the above is a notation signed by Polly Smith that she renounces her rights to administrate. Witnessed by Esther Rider, Deborah Beale, Barna Smith, and (illegible, same sister mentioned above) Smith. Inventory taken 16 December 1837 by Nathaniel Miller and Charles Smith with the aid of Barna Smith and William Beale of miscellaneous items including carpenter's tools, household items and Nathaniel's clothing: total value $240.28.

Other marriages:
Bef 1837 Polly BROWN-97

CHILD 2 - Sophia SMITH-4500

Doc: Father's will (See FGR #818 Barnabus Smith). Married to Mr. Bell before will written in 1838. Probably mother of grandchildren named in will: Catherine (Hallock); Sally (Hudson); Sarah, John & Maryanndella Tooker

Family order det. by order mentioned in will.

A Sophia Smith mentioned in Mary Dann's letter of April 21, 1845, as "not married yet. I expect she will be soon." This cannot be her as we know by her father's will that she was married in 1838.

CHILD 3 - Charles SMITH-4499

Doc: Father's will. (See FGR #818 for Barnabus Smith). Sibling order det. by order mentioned in will.

He was also appointed Executor for his brother Nathaniel, who died intestate. (See Nathaniel's FGR #4498)

HISTORY OF PATCHOGUE, H. Wellington Gordon, 1924. (Patchogue Pub. Lib.) Section on churches. Under the section on East Patchogue Chapel: (started April 5, 1861) The active parishioners included Charles N. Smith, Charles Smith, Barna King, William Smith, George Smith. The site was given by Charles Smith. (More research nec. to prove he is this Charles Smith.)

CHILD 4 - Barna SMITH-388

Doc: US Census 1850 lists him as 44

HUSBAND Barnabus SMITH-818 Yr of Birth 1775
WIFE Esther-4497 Yr of Birth

Death date est. from family letters, needs doc. Aunt Mary writes on March 14, 1858, that "....Your Uncle Barney does not enjoy good health at the best tho he is more temperate than he used to be. His constitution is much broken..." Later, on October 17, 1859, she writes that ".....Barney is feeble but around." This is the last time he is mentioned in the letters. No will found for him to date.

CHILD 5 - Esther SMITH-4501

Doc: Probate rec. her brother Nathaniel (FGR #4498) list her as "sister of lawful age", married name Esther Rider, wife of Charles Rider.

Probably named for her mother

CHILD 6 - Lusirot SMITH-4502

Doc: Probate rec. her brother Nathaniel (FGR #4498) list her as "...sister of lawful age. Name was illegible on record, Lusirot is best guess.

CHILD 7 - Deborah SMITH-4503

Doc: Probate rec. for brother Nathaniel (FGR # 4498) lists her as "sister..of lawful age, gives name as Deborah Beale, wife of William C. Beale.

One of the executors of her father's estate, noted in Barnabus' will as "...my friend William Beale..." could have been her husband or, more likely, her husband's father.

She may have died young. Her husband is buried with a second wife, who outlived him by many years. Needs research.

HUSBAND - John B. DANN-109

Name spelled either Dan or Dann. Earliest letters use Dan, later ones Dann. B. may have been for Brown, his mother's maiden name

1870 US Census NY, Suffolk Co., Town of Brookhaven, lists: Dann, John B., age 64, Seaman, b. NY; Mary, 62, b. NY; Wilson, Louisa, 35, b. NY; Mary Wilson, 3, b. NY; Wm. R. [Armstrong], 1, b. NY.

On the same census, living nearby, are two families that may have meaning for this family: Ebenezer Hulse & John & Mary Tuthill. (See Dann file for copy of census)

The house they owned is still standing. The modern address is 33 Brown's Lane, Bellport. In 1989 we photographed it, copy in files & in King-Porter Family Letters. They sold this property in 1851 (Deed in file).We don't know where they lived from that date until their deaths in 1870 & 1874.

Death: Almost certainly buried in old cemetery in Bellport, but have not found proof

WIFE - Mary Ann BROWN Aunt-113

Doc: Family letters

Parents may have been Major George Brown & Betsy Woodruff

This is Aunt Mary Dann, who wrote so faithfully to her niece Antoinette over a span of so many yeras.

Probably buried in an unmarked grave, in old cemetery now abandoned in center of Bellport

CHILD 1 - Phebe DAN(DANN)-115

Doc: Family letters

Married to George Hamlyn. Much information about her in letters.

In 1886 she was living in Gainesville, Florida with 3 of her sons, "all young men grown".

CHILD 2 - John Wallace S.B. DAN(DANN)-114

Married 16 Dec 1857, in Lewes, Delaware. We don't know his wife's name. Two months later, he was lost in a shipwreck off Sandy Hook. Details are in Aunt Mary's letter

CHILD 3 - Mary Caroline Louise DANN Cousin-116

Doc: This is "Cousin Louise " of the family letters. Her mother, Mary Dann, spoke of her often in the early letters she wrote to her sister & brother-in law, Cornelia & Selah Porter, & in the letters she wrote after Cornelia's death to her niece, Antoinette. The two cousins began a correspondence upon Mary's death which they continued all through their lives. Antoinette's letters to Louise have not survived, but the letters of Aunt Mary & Cousin

Louise are the source of much of our knowledge of Porter family history through the 19th century.

Marriage: Her mother announced her marriage and the date, "6th of June 65 to the family in a letter to Antoinette King dated March 28th, 1866. (See file). She also stated the young couple was living in N.Y. (assume this means New York City, as that is how she always refers to it). She also wrote the news of the birth of their first baby, her name & birth weight, in her letter of June 9, 1867.

After the unexpected death of her first husband, described again in great detail in a letter from Mary Dann to Antoinette,dated Dec. 7th, 1868, Louise returned to Bellport & lived with her parents. Her mother wrote "Louise has come home to live. She is not destitute. She has $600 in the bank and she receives about forty dollars from one of the fire departments yearly and she has a good trade."

In October 1869, when her sister Nora died of childbirth complications [see Nora's file RIN# 117], Louise took the baby, William Robert Armstrong, always called "Willie" and brought him up as her own child.(See letters for references to him).

1870 US Census NY, Suffolk Co., Brookhaven Twp., Reel 954, pg. 371, Dwelling #47, Family # 27 lists: Dann, John B., age 64, Seaman, b. NY; Dann, Mary, 62, b. NY; Wilson, Louise, 35, b. NY; Wilson, Mary, 3, b. NY; Wilson, Wm. R., 1, b. NY

Second Marriage: Some time around 1875, based on birth of her son by that marriage, name signed as Louise Wilson in letter dated March 11, 1872; signed Mrs. Louise M.C. Dan Drinker on Feb. 28th, 1880.

1880 US Census NY, Suffollk Co., Brookhaven Twp., Reel 48, Vol. 94, EO 315, pg. 83, line 28, lists: Drinker, Geo., age 30, b. NY; Lou Drinker, age 44, b. NY; Wilson, Mary, age 13, b. NY; Drinker, Georgie, age 5, b. N.Y.; Armstrong, William, age 10, b. N.Y.

In a letter dated April 16 1886, Louise wrote ALPK a detailed genealogy of the children of their maternal aunts. She also wrote that her husband, "little Georgie & Willie" were all still living with her.

RKF & JGF visited her grave in 1988 & 1989--she is buried as Louise Drinker with her second husband & her son by that marriage.

Other marriages:
George D. DRINKER Sr.-406 MRIN: 108

CHILD 4 - Lenora DANN-117

Married 21 September 1868 to William Robert Armstrong. The letters describe her death after giving birth to a son, William Robert, on August 19, 1869. He died in 1943, is buried near his Mother's grave in the Bellport Cemetary as Wm. L. Armstrong. He must have changed his middle name later on. Lenora is called Nora in the letters--her sister, Cousin Louise, brought up her son, and refers to him in the letters as "Willie"

HUSBAND John B. DANN-109 Yr of Birth 1808
WIFE Mary Ann BROWN Aunt-113 Yr of Birth 1803

According to NY census for 1850, she was 9 years old. Date on grave stone is 1845

HUSBAND William WILSON-395 Yr of Birth
WIFE Mary DAN-111 Yr of Birth 1816

HUSBAND - William WILSON-395

WIFE - Mary DAN-111
Doc: Family letters, IGI file Mormon Library (Marriage)

Married to William Wilson. Often referred to in letters as Aunt Mary Wilson. He was in the steam boat business.

Lived in NYC, then Bayridge, Brooklyn, then in New Jersey, finally moved back to NYC, prob. died there. May have died in Patchogue--needs research

Frequently mentioned in family letters from Mary Dann, then from her daughter Louise Dann Wilson

CHILD 1 - Obed Henry WILSON-396
Doc: Married to Emma, who may or may not also have had the last name of Wilson, and was born in England. Reference in family letters, not sure of source.

In 1886, according to letter from his cousin Louise to ALPK, he was living in Passaic, New Jersey

In 1895, according to a letter ALPK wrote to her son Selah, Obed was living in Brooklyn.

CHILD 2 - Augusta M. "Gus" WILSON-397
Doc: Family letters. Letter from her Aunt Mary Dann to ALPK dated October 17, 1859, describing Mary Wilson's family, said "Augusta is not married." Another letter from same source, dated April 20, 1863, stated "Augusta in not wedded yet. They [prob. she & her parents] are living at 49th St.[NYC] Again, on March 28, 1866, she reported that "Augusta was not married nor is likely to be that I am aware of". She repeated the same news in a letter written June 9, 1867. Finally, in a letter dated April 16, 1886, again reporting on the status of Mary Wilson's family, Cousin Louise wrote "When Aunt Mary Wilson died she was living in Patchogue. Gus is living there still. It was Aunt Mary's wish that Augusta should keep house. She has two of her brother William's children with her, a boy and a girl. The boy is the age of my Willie [17]. The mother died when they were small."

CHILD 3 - John Jabez WILSON-398
Doc: Family letters. Letter to Selah & Cornelia Porter, from Mary B. Dann, written Aug 6 1843, reported "Mary's youngest child is a son. She calls him John Jabez".

Named for his grandfather Jabez Dan, possibly also for his uncle John B. Dann.

In 1867 he was living in Bayridge,NY,helping his father with farming. In 1872, Cousin Louise reported to ALPK that "John J. Wilson married a young girl out to Kirkwood & settled on the farm belonging to Uncle William." Poss. wedding date 1 Sept 1868. [Not sure of source]

HUSBAND William WILSON-395 Yr of Birth
WIFE Mary DAN-111 Yr of Birth 1816

CHILD 4 - Baby Girl WILSON-5176

Doc: Letter [in file] from Mary Dan to ALPK, dated March 12, 1845:" Mary (Wilson) has lost her youngedt child, about six weeks since. It had some disease in its head. It lived to be a year old but never held up its head. It was her 4th child and a girl."

CHILD 5 - William Bennett "Willie" WILSON-5177

Doc: Family letters

According to several references in the letters (see Dann-Porter file), he was "in business in the Jersies"; in 1886 he was living at Passaic, New Jersey; in a letter dated April 16, 1886, his cousin Louise Dann Wilson Drinker erot that William's sister Augusta "has two of her brother William's children living with her [in Patchogue, Long Island], a boy and a girl. The boy is the age of my Willie [born 1869], the mother died when they were small."

CHILD 6 - Joseph WILSON-5178

Doc: Family letters. Most likely born in New Jersey when his family were living there.

In one letter (#8) he was reported to be "in school in the Jersey" in 1867. In 1886 his cousin Louise wrote to her cousin Antoinette "I think you would like Aunt Mary's sons.....Joe is splendid."

HUSBAND Nathaniel SMITH-4498 Yr of Birth 1800
WIFE Yr of Birth

HUSBAND - Nathaniel SMITH-4498

Doc: Father's will; Dann-Porter letters; his probate records, censuses

1820 US Census NY, Suffolk Co, Brookhaven, Roll #74, p. 348: Head of Family: Nathaniel Smith; Free White Males: 3 under 10; 1 bw 26-45; Free White Females: 2 under 10; 1 bw 10-16; 1 bw 26-45. Occupation:Agriculture

1830 US Census (same site as above), Roll 103, pg 170: Nathaniel Smith; FWM: 1 under 5; 1 bw 15-20; 1 bw 20-30; 1 bw 60-70; FWF: 1 bw 5-10; 1 bw 10-15; 1 bw 40-50

Name of first wife not known. The children listed in the above censuses are his children with her. She obviously died some time after the 1830 census and before his death in 1837, as he was married to Polly Brown Dann, widow of Jabez Dann, by then. He had no children with Polly. Many of his children are mentioned in Aunt Mary Dan's letters.

His father's will makes reference to Nathaniel's sons Nelson and Isaac and Nelson's "five sisters". Mary Dan's letters refer to Sophia, Ruth, Debby, Esther, Hannah & Elisa Ann--obviously family members, some of whom could be these sisters, or they could be his daughters. (From the census data, he seems to have had at least 4 daughters & 4 sons.) No other clues to who they might be. Needs further research.

Probate Record: (from Suffolk County Records, Riverhead, L.I., WIL004) from probate records at the time of the death of Nathaniel Smith, who died intestate. Microfilm, Serrogate Court of Suffolk County. "In the matter of the administration of the goods, chattels and credits of Nathaniel Smith deceased, intestate, letters dated December, 1837.....(going on in the middle of handwritten document, apparently referring to his brother Charles and friend Nathaniel Miller as the appointed executors). He should consider the probable value of the said deceased would be about $150, that the said deceased left a widow, Polly Smith, and three sisters who are of lawful age, to wit: Esther Rider, wife of Charles Rider, Lusirot (illegible) Smith, and Deborah Beale, wife of William C. Beale, and four minor children without guardians---that the said widow and children of lawful age have renounced their right to administrate, that he also left a father who is aged [undoubtedly Barnabus Smith] and in the opinion of your petitioner incompetent to administrate, that your petitioner is a brother of the same deceased and by law next entitled to administrate therefore request that letters of administration may be granted to him. Dated 6 December 1837.

Also included in the above is a notation signed by Polly Smith that she renounces her rights to administrate. Witnessed by Esther Rider, Deborah Beale, Barna Smith, and (illegible, same sister mentioned above) Smith. Inventory taken 16 December 1837 by Nathaniel Miller and Charles Smith with the aid of Barna Smith and William Beale of miscellaneous items including carpenter's tools, household items and Nathaniel's clothing: total value $240.28.

CHILD 1 - Nelson SMITH-4504

Doc: Wills & probate rec. of grandfather (Barnabus Smith--MRIN #228) & father Nathaniel Smith; also mentioned in Dann-Porter letters

After his father's death in 1837, he shared a home with his step-mother, Polly Dann Smith. In a letter written August 6th, 1843, Mary Dann tells Cornelia & Selah "...Nelson lives with mother. They [probably Nelson & his wife] have one child living." In her letter dated March 12, 1845, she writes the details of Barnabus Smith's death & his will, saying specifically "The horse and barn and a small piece of land he gave to Nellson(sic)."

HUSBAND - Barna SMITH-388

Doc: US Census 1850 lists him as 44

Death date est. from family letters, needs doc. Aunt Mary writes on March 14, 1858, that "....Your Uncle Barney does not enjoy good health at the best tho he is more temperate than he used to be. His constitution is much broken..." Later, on October 17, 1859, she writes that ".....Barney is feeble but around." This is the last time he is mentioned in the letters. No will found for him to date.

WIFE - Sarah M. "Sallie" DAN-110

Doc: Birth date taken from 1850 US Census. 1870 census gave her age as 53, which would make her birth date 1817.

She was Janice Smith Brightwell's Great-Grandmother (Janice lives in New Haven, CT. We were put in touch with each other in 1988 by the Librarian of the Suffolk Co. Historical Society. JGF & RKF spent several days on Long Island inthe summer of 1989, staying at Janice's summer home in Southampton & conducting research. See Dann Notes in file)

Much information about her in letters to ALPK from Mary Dann. She was mentioned in almost every letter. In the first, dated April 30, 1829, Mary Dann wrote to Cornelia about many family matters, among them an extended reference to what seems to have been an imminent engagement, possibly to Barna Smith, whom she married sometime in the next year. On August 6, 1843, Mary wrote about the local excitement with Millerism, and said "Sally is one of the converts". After the death of her husband (about 1860), first Mary, then Louise wrote frequently that Sally was visiting one or another of her numerous children who lived in several locations on Long Island or at Mystic, Connecticut; that she was in comfortable circumstances and well cared for. A letter in 1869 said she had been quite sick with "billious fever". However, she obviously recovered because in a letter dated May 1871, Cousin Louise wrote "Aunt Sarah has nothing to do but take comfort. Her children have married pretty well off. She now has two daughters and a son to marry off. They are all very gay. Aunt Sarah is full of fun and likes a dance as well as she did forty years ago. She belongs to no church and her children are all like her......."(Sallie at this time was 57 years old!)

The 1870 US Census, NY, Suffolk Co., Brookhaven Twp., 1 June 1870, Roll 954, pg 922, Dwelling #4 (same as for Nornam & Phebe Smith, her daughter & son-in-law), Family # 922, lists: Smith, Sally, age 53, b. NY; Smith, Frank B., age 17, b. NY; Smith, Emily F., age 16, b. NY

Source of date of death: Letter from Antoinette Porter King to her husband Wm. Vipen King on April 16, 1884, in which she said the information came in a letter from Cousin Louise. (That letter from Louise is not in the family file) Not sure where she was buried, but it most likely be either at Bellport or Mystic, Ct. Needs further research.

HUSBAND Barna SMITH-388 Yr of Birth 1806
WIFE Sarah M. "Sallie" DAN-110 Yr of Birth 1814

Pub. Co. 1896, Ref.#920 SC; Dann-Porter family letters; Janice Smith records

Janice Smith Brightwell's Grandfather

Born & educated until age 14 at East Patchogue, at ancestral home of father & grandfather before him. Before he was 15 he went to New York City & from there shipped out on a full-rigged brig, celebrating his 15th birthday at Trieste, Italy. By his third voyage he was made 2nd mate; by his fourth trip he was promoted to 1st mate. On his next trip he was master of the ship. Sailed for many years to many ports in Africa, Europe & the Canary Islands. Also engaged in the rubber trade in South Africa for five years. Won a race and the contract for carrying the mails between the US & South America in 1874 (see file for story of race & prizes he won)

In a family letter dated April 20, 1863, Aunt Mary Dann writes "Malaga is away on the water"; on March 28, 1866 she writes "Malaga takes his little brother [Frank] with him to Central America. He has spent most of his time the last two years in Honduras. He is making a fortune as fast as he can. He came home in the fall to be married and leaves again very soon"...and, later in the same letter, "Malaga is going to build near his old home when he returns".

Retired from the sea in 1878, took up farming, was prominent in local politics in East Patchogue. Served as town trustee and highway commissioner.

JSB,RKF & JGF discovered grave site 6-22-1989

CHILD 2 - Phebe Janet SMITH-361
Doc: US Censuses, Family letters

Family records kept by Janice Smith Brightwell suggest her name was Phebe Gennet Smith; however, since she is always referred to in family letters as either "Phebe Janet" or as "Phebe J.", and is also identified in the census as "Phebe J.", this seems more likely to have been her name. The J. may have been used in the family to distinguish her from her cousin Phebe, daughter of Mary & John Dann.

Listed in NY census 1850 as 14 years old

Marriage date est. from birth of son listed in 1870 census.

In a letter dated March 28, 1866, Aunt Mary Dann writes "..Phebe Js. husband Norman Smith has bought your Aunt Sarah's place, leaving her her dowry and the girls say that when she wants anything all she has to do is whistle....".

1870 US Census NY, Suffolk Co., Brookhaven Twp., Roll 954, 1 June 1870, pg 365, Dwelling #4, Family # 921, lists: Smith, Norman, 39, Farmer, b. Conn., value real estate $4000, value personal property $600; Smith, Phebe J., 34, b. NY; Smith, Frederick, 13, b. Conn.. Listed at the same address are her mother, Sally Smith, & her younger brother & sister, Frank B. & Emily F.

Years later, a letter written by Cousin Louise on Feb. 28, 1880, suggests Phebe & her husband have fallen on harder times. She writes " Uncle Barna's old place was sold last fall by auction. Phebe Janet had always lived there. They were obliged to sell. I feel very sorry for them, they have moved into another house a half mile from the old one."

HUSBAND Barna SMITH-388 Yr of Birth 1806
WIFE Sarah M. "Sallie" DAN-110 Yr of Birth 1814

CHILD 3 - Cassandra SMITH-854

Source: NY census 1850

Also mentioned in Dann-Porter family letters. On March 28, 1866, in the context of news about Aunt Sallie's family, Mary Dann writes "Cassandra Overton lives at Patchogue". Thus, the source for her married name & residence for further research. In a letter dated April 16, 1886, Louise Wilson wrote ALPK that "I have only seen one of my cousins in a long time, and that was Cassandr[i]a Overton."

CHILD 4 - Sarah Sophia SMITH-817

Source: NY census for 1850 lists her as 9 years old, and as being the fourth child in the family; family letters.

Mentioned several times in family letters. First reference, on Oct. 17, 1859, "Sarah S. is to be married in the spring if she lives. She is not very healthy". Obviously she survived, & is mentioned in several later letters as "Sarah S. Williams...lives at Mystic", & on Oct. 24th, 1869, "Cousin Sarah Williams has been out [to visit her Aunt Mary Wilson & family & her grandmother Polly Dann Smith] to make them a visit a few weeks hence & she said Grandma is as spry as ever." Louise Dann Drinker, in a letter written April 16, 1886, provided a detailed accounting to ALPK of all their cousins. She named Sarah Sophia as one of those still alive.

ALPK listed relatives in the back of her 2nd journal. Next to the name Sarah Sophia Williams she wrote "died 1889".

CHILD 5 - Eleanor SMITH-393

Married in 1865 or 1866 to Mr. Hussy. Place in family verified by JSB

Source:In MD/LW letters to ALP she was always referred to as "Elinor" but she was listed in 1850 NY census as "Eleanor"

In letter dated Oct 28, 1866, she was said to be "living at New York".

In letter dated April 16 1886, from Louise Dann Wilson to ALPK, she was listed as "not living".

CHILD 6 - Mary Esther SMITH-298

Doc: Family records

Married to Mr. Harding according to Janice Smith Brightwell, but family letters speak of her several times as Mary E. Hand

Probably named for her grandmother, wife of Barnabus Smith

In letter dated March 14, 1858 Mary Dann wrote " Mary E. Hand lost her youngest child about three weeks ago, about 8 months old. It died very sudden.

HUSBAND Barna SMITH-388 Yr of Birth 1806
WIFE Sarah M. "Sallie" DAN-110 Yr of Birth 1814

She went out to spend the evening and left the child upstairs. She said she felt uneasy all the evening about it. She could not rest and she told Edwin she must go home, something ailed the babe. She ran upstairs and found it in a fit and it continued in fits until morning and died. Teething was the cause. Poor little sufferer, it is better off than to be here." On March 28, 1866 Aunt Mary wrote ".. ...Mary E. Hand lives at Jerry Bell's".

In a letter dated April 16, 1886, Cousin Louise wrote ALPK that Mary Esther was "not living:.

CHILD 7 - Betsey SMITH-855
Doc: Listed in NY census for 1850 as 2 years old

Family letter from Mary Dann dated March 28, 1866 stated "Betsy Avery lives at Mystic".

Letter dated April 16, 1886, from Cousin Louise to ALPK, she was included with those still alive

CHILD 8 - Augusta SMITH-815
Doc: Family letters. Twin of Frank

Not mentioned in 1870 census with mother, brother & other siblings (she would have been 17)--may have been married by then; letter dated April 16, 1886, from Cousin Louise to ALPK reported that "all of Aunt Sally's children are married" & listed Augusta among those still alive.

CHILD 9 - Frank B. SMITH-394
Doc: 1870 US Census NY, Suffolk Co, Brookhaven, Reel 954, pg 365, Dwelling #4, Family #922. Head of household: Sally Smith, age 53; Smith, Frank B., age 17, b. NY

Twin of Augusta (#815)

Referred to in Cousin Louise Wilson's letter dated March 28, 1866, when she said "Malaga takes his little brother with him to Central America"

In letter dated April 16, 1886, from Cousin Louise to ALPK, she reported that "Aunt Sally's children are all married"...and listed him with those still alive

CHILD 10 - Emily F. SMITH-4511
Doc: 1870 US Census NY, Suffolk CO, Brookhaven, Reel #954, pg 365, Dwelling 4, Family #922: Head of household; Smith, Sally, age 53; Smith, Frank B.,age 17, b. NY, & Smith, Emily F., age 16, b. NY

Letter dated March 28, 1866, from Mary Dann to ALPK, reported that Aunt Sally had only one child with her, "Emily, the youngest".

Letter dated April 16, 1886, from Cousin louise to ALPK stated that "Aunt Sally's children are all married" and listed Emily among those still alove.

HUSBAND - Thomas W. WILSON-404

Doc: Family letters

In a letter dated Dec 7 1868, Mary Dann wrote ALPK of his sudden, unexpected death of an undiagnosed head or brain disorder. He became very ill on a Monday and died the next Saturday. The doctor who saw him several times injected him with chloroform, & Thomas continued to do his business and family marketing until the day he died."

WIFE - Mary Caroline Louise DANN Cousin-116

Doc: This is "Cousin Louise " of the family letters. Her mother, Mary Dann, spoke of her often in the early letters she wrote to her sister & brother-in law, Cornelia & Selah Porter, & in the letters she wrote after Cornelia's death to her niece, Antoinette. The two cousins began a correspondence upon Mary's death which they continued all through their lives. Antoinette's letters to Louise have not survived, but the letters of Aunt Mary & Cousin Louise are the source of much of our knowledge of Porter family history through the 19th century.

Marriage: Her mother announced her marriage and the date, "6th of June 65 to the family in a letter to Antoinette King dated March 28th, 1866. (See file). She also stated the young couple was living in N.Y. (assume this means New York City, as that is how she always refers to it). She also wrote the news of the birth of their first baby, her name & birth weight, in her letter of June 9, 1867.

After the unexpected death of her first husband, described again in great detail in a letter from Mary Dann to Antoinette,dated Dec. 7th, 1868, Louise returned to Bellport & lived with her parents. Her mother wrote "Louise has come home to live. She is not destitute. She has $600 in the bank and she receives about forty dollars from one of the fire departments yearly and she has a good trade."

In October 1869, when her sister Nora died of childbirth complications [see Nora's file RIN# 117], Louise took the baby, William Robert Armstrong, always called "Willie" and brought him up as her own child.(See letters for references to him).

1870 US Census NY, Suffolk Co., Brookhaven Twp., Reel 954, pg. 371, Dwelling #47, Family # 27 lists: Dann, John B., age 64, Seaman, b. NY; Dann, Mary, 62, b. NY; Wilson, Louise, 35, b. NY; Wilson, Mary, 3, b. NY; Wilson, Wm. R., 1, b. NY

Second Marriage: Some time around 1875, based on birth of her son by that marriage, name signed as Louise Wilson in letter dated March 11, 1872; signed Mrs. Louise M.C. Dan Drinker on Feb. 28th, 1880.

1880 US Census NY, Suffollk Co., Brookhaven Twp., Reel 48, Vol. 94, ED 315, pg. 83, line 28, lists: Drinker, Geo., age 30, b. NY; Lou Drinker, age 44, b. NY; Wilson, Mary, age 13, b. NY; Drinker, Georgie, age 5, b. N.Y.; Armstrong, William, age 10, b. N.Y.

In a letter dated April 16 1886, Louise wrote ALPK a detailed genealogy of the children of their maternal aunts. She also wrote that her husband, "little Georgie & Willie" were all still living with her.

RKF & JGF visited her grave in 1988 & 1989--she is buried as Louise Drinker with her second husband & her son by that marriage.

Other marriages:
George D. DRINKER Sr.-406 MRIN: 108

CHILD 1 - Mary Louise Charlotte WILSON-405

Doc: Family letters. Her birth was announced by her grandmother in a letter dated June 9, 1867, when she said " Louise has named her little girl Mary Louise Charlotte Wilson. I think I see you laugh but she is a little angel. She only weighed 3 pounds but she is perfectly healthy and has bright blue eyes. Nora writes [they] are as bright as stars".

Nickname "Mamie", at least in her mother's letters

Name & birthdate confirmed in a letter from her grandmother, Mary Dan, to Antoinette Porter King.

Source: Data re her husband & children from Will filed with State of New York. See Genealogy note for Dann

In letter her mother wrote to ALPK dated April 16, 1886, she gave Mamie's married name & address as "Mrs. Everett M. Price, Bellport, NY" & wrote "Mamie is getting along firstrate. Her little girl walks & is beginning to talk." In a postscript, she wrote "She [Mamie] has your address and if anything should happen to me you will soon hear of it--Goodbye"

WIFE - Mary Caroline Louise DANN Cousin-116

Doc: This is "Cousin Louise " of the family letters. Her mother, Mary Dann, spoke of her often in the early letters she wrote to her sister & brother-in law, Cornelia & Selah Porter, & in the letters she wrote after Cornelia's death to her niece, Antoinette. The two cousins began a correspondence upon Mary's death which they continued all through their lives. Antoinette's letters to Louise have not survived, but the letters of Aunt Mary & Cousin Louise are the source of much of our knowledge of Porter family history through the 19th century.

Marriage: Her mother announced her marriage and the date, "6th of June 65 to the family in a letter to Antoinette King dated March 28th, 1866. (See file). She also stated the young couple was living in N.Y. (assume this means New York City, as that is how she always refers to it). She also wrote the news of the birth of their first baby, her name & birth weight, in her letter of June 9, 1867.

After the unexpected death of her first husband, described again in great detail in a letter from Mary Dann to Antoinette,dated Dec. 7th, 1868, Louise returned to Bellport & lived with her parents. Her mother wrote "Louise has come home to live. She is not destitute. She has $600 in the bank and she receives about forty dollars from one of the fire departments yearly and she has a good trade."

In October 1869, when her sister Nora died of childbirth complications [see Nora's file RIN# 117], Louise took the baby, William Robert Armstrong, always called "Willie" and brought him up as her own child.(See letters for references to him).

1870 US Census NY, Suffolk Co., Brookhaven Twp., Reel 954, pg. 371, Dwelling #47, Family # 27 lists: Dann, John B., age 64, Seaman, b. NY; Dann, Mary, 62, b. NY; Wilson, Louise, 35, b. NY; Wilson, Mary, 3, b. NY; Wilson, Wm. R., 1, b. NY

Second Marriage: Some time around 1875, based on birth of her son by that marriage, name signed as Louise Wilson in letter dated March 11, 1872; signed Mrs. Louise M.C. Dan Drinker on Feb. 28th, 1880.

1880 US Census NY, Suffollk Co., Brookhaven Twp., Reel 48, Vol. 94, EO 315, pg. 83, line 28, lists: Drinker, Geo., age 30, b. NY; Lou Drinker, age 44, b. NY; Wilson, Mary, age 13, b. NY; Drinker, Georgie, age 5, b. N.Y.; Armstrong, William, age 10, b. N.Y.

In a letter dated April 16 1886, Louise wrote ALPK a detailed genealogy of the children of their maternal aunts. She also wrote that her husband, "little Georgie & Willie" were all still living with her.

HUSBAND	William Robert ARMSTRONG-408	Yr of Birth
WIFE	Lenora DANN-117	Yr of Birth 1841

HUSBAND - William Robert ARMSTRONG-408

WIFE - Lenora DANN-117

Married 21 September 1868 to William Robert Armstrong. The letters describe her death after giving birth to a son, William Robert, on August 19, 1869. He died in 1943, is buried near his Mother's grave in the Bellport Cemetary as Wm. L. Armstrong. He must have changed his middle name later on. Lenora is called Nora in the letters--her sister, Cousin Louise, brought up her son, and refers to him in the letters as "Willie"

According to NY census for 1850, she was 9 years old. Date on grave stone is 1845

CHILD 1 - William L. "Willie" ARMSTRONG-409

Doc: Family letters. In a letter Mary Dann wrote to ALPK, she described his birth, his Mother's birth & his mother's death. She said he was named William Robert for his Father, but his grave but his gravestone lists him as Wm. L. He is the "Willie" so often mentioned in Cousin Louise's letters to ALPK.

In a letter dated April 16 1886, Louise wrote "Willie is still with me & is quite a tall boy and a good one. He will be seventeen years old next Aug. He will go to some kind of a trade before long and how I shall miss him. He has never seen his father since he was four years old. His father has not turned out very well, so it seems to me a good thing that poor sister Nora was taken away".

Will filed with State of New York lists 7 children by a probable first marraige (not to Edna). See separate FGR

Doc: Newspaper pub., PORTRAIT AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD, Suffolk Co., Chapman Pub. Co. 1896, Ref.#920 SC; Dann-Porter family letters; Janice Smith records

Janice Smith Brightwell's Grandfather

Born & educated until age 14 at East Patchogue, at ancestral home of father & grandfather before him. Before he was 15 he went to New York City & from there shipped out on a full-rigged brig, celebrating his 15th birthday at Trieste, Italy. By his third voyage he was made 2nd mate; by his fourth trip he was promoted to 1st mate. On his next trip he was master of the ship. Sailed for many years to many ports in Africa, Europe & the Canary Islands. Also engaged in the rubber trade in South Africa for five years. Won a race and the contract for carrying the mails between the US & South America in 1874 (see file for story of race & prizes he won)

In a family letter dated April 20, 1863, Aunt Mary Dann writes "Malaga is away on the water"; on March 28, 1866 she writes "Malaga takes his little brother [Frank] with him to Central America. He has spent most of his time the last two years in Honduras. He is making a fortune as fast as he can. He came home in the fall to be married and leaves again very soon"...and, later in the same letter, "Malaga is going to build near his old home when he returns".

Retired from the sea in 1878, took up farming, was prominent in local politics in East Patchogue. Served as town trustee and highway commissioner.

HUSBAND Norman SMITH-4495 Yr of Birth 1831
WIFE Phebe Janet SMITH-361 Yr of Birth 1836

HUSBAND - Norman SMITH-4495
Doc: 1870 Census (see file); Family letters

Farmer

WIFE - Phebe Janet SMITH-361
Doc: US Censuses, Family letters

Family records kept by Janice Smith Brightwell suggest her name was Phebe Gennet Smith; however, since she is always referred to in family letters as either "Phebe Janet" or as "Phebe J.", and is also identified in the census as "Phebe J.", this seems more likely to have been her name. The J. may have been used in the family to distinguish her from her cousin Phebe, daughter of Mary & John Dann.

Listed in NY census 1850 as 14 years old

Marriage date est. from birth of son listed in 1870 census.

In a letter dated March 28, 1866, Aunt Mary Dann writes "..Phebe Js. husband Norman Smith has bought your Aunt Sarah's place, leaving her her dowry and the girls say that when she wants anything all she has to do is whistle....".

1870 US Census NY, Suffolk Co., Brookhaven Twp., Roll 954, 1 June 1870, pg 365, Dwelling #4, Family # 921, lists: Smith, Norman, 39, Farmer, b. Conn., value real estate $4000, value personal property $600; Smith, Phebe J., 34, b. NY; Smith, Frederick, 13, b. Conn.. Listed at the same address are her mother, Sally Smith, & her younger brother & sister, Frank B. & Emily F.

Years later, a letter written by Cousin Louise on Feb. 28, 1880, suggests Phebe & her husband have fallen on harder times. She writes " Uncle Barna's old place was sold last fall by auction. Phebe Janet had always lived there. They were obliged to sell. I feel very sorry for them, they have moved into another house a half mile from the old one."

HUSBAND - Everett M. PRICE-841

WIFE - Mary Louise Charlotte WILSON-405

Doc: Family letters. Her birth was announced by her grandmother in a letter dated June 9, 1867, when she said " Louise has named her little girl Mary Louise Charlotte Wilson. I think I see you laugh but she is a little angel. She only weighed 3 pounds but she is perfectly healthy and has bright blue eyes. Nora writes [they] are as bright as stars".

Nickname "Mamie", at least in her mother's letters

Name & birthdate confirmed in a letter from her grandmother, Mary Dan, to Antoinette Porter King.

Source: Data re her husband & children from Will filed with State of New York. See Genealogy note for Dann

In letter her mother wrote to ALPK dated April 16, 1886, she gave Mamie's married name & address as "Mrs. Everett M. Price, Bellport, NY" & wrote "Mamie is getting along firstrate. Her little girl walks & is beginning to talk." In a postscript, she wrote "She [Mamie] has your address and if anything should happen to me you will soon hear of it--Goodbye"

The Brig Middletown

Henry W. Moeller SCHS #1753

Springing from a mountain pool on the ridges of the great Appalachian mountains which separate the waters of the United States and Canada, the Connecticut River winds and curves and bows its gracious way, down its long luxurious valley, through four states, three hundred and sixty miles to Long Island Sound. One of the villages on the banks of the longest river in New England is Middletown. Middletown is located thirty-eight miles inland from a dazzling white lighthouse on Saybrook Point, the entrance to Long Island Sound.[i]

In the eighteenth century the forests were primitive, and consequently dense along the Connecticut River. Furthermore, the availability of large trees at Middletown made it an ideal location to build wooden ships. By 1730 Middletown owned two schooners of a combined tonnage of 105 for domestic trade. By 1760 Middletown ship builders were building high grade merchant ships for the West Indies and trans-Atlantic trade, and by the American Revolution, Middletown was an important ship-building and commercial center.[ii] One source stated that "in 1776, seventeen families out of fifty, which resided on Main street, were directly connected with the sea, either as ship builders, owners, merchants or rope makers." It is said that the vessels built in Middletown and other neighboring communities of the river were famous for their seaworthiness and speed.[iii] This article is about the colorful history of the Brig Middletown, one of those seaworthy and speedy vessels built on the Connecticut River in 1778 [see Figure 1].

The Middletown was a Connecticut brigantine with 16 guns and a crew of 100. After paying a bond of $10,000 she became a Connecticut privateer on January 6, 1779 the bonders were Nathan Sage of Middletown [see Figure 2], Barnabas Deane of Wethersfield and William Bull of Hartford. The owner of the Middletown was Abraham Miller of either Miller & Olmsted & Co or Abraham Miller & Co.[iv] Abraham Miller was a cloth merchant from East Hampton, N.Y., who fled to Hartford after the disastrous Battle of Long Island

The location of the construction site at Middletown and the ship builder remain unknown. The ship builder may have been Captain John Cotton of Middletown, for a year earlier he was authorized by Congress to build a 28 gun frigate at nearby Chatham in 1777.[v] While there were thousands of American ships that participated in the American Revolution; there are less than two-dozen plans in existence. The Middletown is unique in the sense that her architectural plans are available for scholars to study.

The Middletown was 75' 6" between perpendiculars, 20' 10" extreme beams, 20' 5" moulded beam, 7' 9" depth in hold, and she drew 9' 9" aft and 6' 7 ½" forward in order to float. Her moulded waterline was 70' 11"[vi]

When the late Howard Chapelle, America's leading historian of naval architecture, examined her plans, he wrote the following:

> "She had fine ends, much drag to the keel, a very raking curved-stem rabbet, raking post, square-tuck transom stern, and moderate sheer. Her midsection was formed by sharply rising, straight floor, and a high and easy bilge carried up to the sheer to form some tumble home. Her quarterback buttock became straight as it approached its intersection with the after load line, and then slightly reversed as it approached the transom. The load line, just abaft the stem rabbet, showed a slight hollow, when projected, in the half-breadth plan."
> "This vessel was very well built and finished. On her stern she had a carved panel showing three fleur-de-lis and two partial wreaths. Her quarter badges had false windows and formal carvings."
> "The [sail rig] was actually that of a brigantine, being without a main course. Though large for the relatively light-displacement hull that carried it, the rig was well proportioned---the great drop in the topsails is noticeable."
> "In a vessel of [the Middletown's] dimensions and small displacement, the power to carry sail becomes a critical matter. Unless the vessel is very lightly built as the [Middletown] was reported to be and lightly burdened, there may not be adequate displacement for sufficient ballast. It is relatively rare to find such conditions in a merchant vessel. [Middletown's] finish, and light displacement, suggest she had not been intended for a freighter; possibly she had been a mail packet."

> "She should have been a fast sailor, at least in light and moderate weather when she could carry sail."[vii]

From a deposition to purchase a share in any prize money awarded to Abner Stocking, a crew member of the privateer, we learn the following:

> "Know all Men by these presents that I Abner Stocking of Chatham in the County of Hartford & State of Connecticut for the Consideration of Thirty three pounds lawful money as in the year 1768 Received to my full Satisfaction of Philip Mortimer of Middletown in said County and State aforesaid do give, grant, sell & convey unto him the said Philip Mortimer One whole Share of all Prize or Prizes of what kind so ever which we shall capture and make Lawful prize during a Cruise of Six Months against ...common enemy the Subject of George the third King of Grate Britain & Ireland. Said Cruise to be performed by me (Abner Stocking) on board the Privateer Brig Middletown Nathan Sage Commanding; Mounting 16 guns Dated in Middletown this 11th day of January 1779
> Witness
> NB In case the above specified cruise is broke before the Six Months Expire then there shall be proper allowance made accordingly for the deficiency of the Time.
> Witness Present Abner Stocking
> Sarah Camp
> Lois Nichols[viii]

From the deposition we learn Philip Mortimer purchased a share of the prize money in the privateer brig Middletown from Abner Stocking, (1729-1816) a crewmember. Philip Mortimer (1710-1794) was the owner of a Middletown ropewalk.

On January 29,1779, Captain Nathan Sage, commanding the brig Middletown, joined two other privateers; the sloop Beaver commanded by Captain Havens and the sloop Eagle commanded by Captain Conklin. They left New London, Ct. for Sag Harbor, N.Y. Hours later on entering the port of Sag Harbor the three ships observed the Ranger, a British privateer brig of 12 guns, tied to the wharf. In a bold maneuver, all three ships approached the Ranger firing their cannon. After a brief skirmish, the majority of the British crew abandoned the Ranger and fled on foot to safety. A number of the Rebels then jumped aboard the Ranger and took five of the British crew captive. A few minutes later they took command of the Ranger, raised her sails and headed for the open sea.

As the three rebel captains were returning to New London harbor they observed a convoy of 20 vessels approaching them and heading for Long Island Sound. The three American captains continued to sail for New London harbor and upon arriving on Saturday, January 30, 1779, made their prize public.

The three American captains left New London under the cover of darkness on Sunday morning, January 31st, 1779, under storm conditions and low visibility. As they headed for eastern Long Island, they observed a British convoy of twenty ships anchored at Gardiner's Island for the night. As they approached the convoy under the cover of darkness, they observed thirteen ships proceed west down Long Island Sound. The remaining seven ships sailed for Sag Harbor. The three rebel captains once again directed their ships towards Sag Harbor.

At dawn on Sunday morning January 31st, 1779, an eyewitness, Major Charles Cochrane, a British officer of B Legion stationed at Sag Harbor, watched the Middletown, Beaver and Eagle standing in for the port of Sag Harbor. He wrote a letter to his commanding officer Major General Sir William Erskine at Southampton, N.Y., the following day [February 1,1779, at 11 o'clock at night] and noted the following events:

> "Betwixt eight and nine o'clock they came within cannon shot of the king's armed vessel, lying in this harbour, which fired three shot ahead of them, neither of which being answered, the Neptune fired at them, which was returned on their side, hoisting rebel colours, and still standing on until they came within reach of the guns on shore, which having thrown a few 12 pound shot at them, they stood out from the harbour, towards the end of Hog Neck [North Haven]; long shot was then exchanged for some time until the rebel brig having the appearance of being aground or of having met with some accident, a twelve pounder was moved down to the end of Long Wharf, which being nearly upon a level with the water, had the effect of deterring the sloops from giving her much assistance; while I crossed over to Hog Neck with the infantry of the British Legion and the three pounder attached to it, from which we bore with such advantage on her that she struck to us, but unfortunately having five whale boats on board her, all the crew got off except [illegible] and the Sloops immediately left the bay. The Middleton [Middletown] carries 16-6 pounders, was going on a cruise, and is found completely for six months. She will be brought into the harbour next tide. We met with but one accident, a corporal > only being wounded with a grape shot. There are many useful stores and provisions on board which shall be taken care of till your pleasure is known."

The viewpoint of the Americans was printed in The Connecticut Journal on February 10,1779, when they wrote the following:

> " ...the brig Middletown in beating up the harbour, most unfortunately struck on the middle-ground, distant about a quarter of a mile from the shore, where she was bravely defended by her Captain and crew for 4 or 5 hours, against an incessant fire from the above armed brig and several field-pieces on the shore, but after being hulled by 30 [?] shot, several of which were under water, and the vessel careening by means of the tide falling, rendered it impracticable to work the guns to advantage; in the situation they were obliged to quit the vessel, all the people except four being taken on board the two sloops; this unhappy accident put an end to their enterprise."

Soon after leaving Sag Harbor, Captain Edward Conklin captured the British brig Peter Joseph Brown master, and the British brig Thomas and William, James Smith master. The brig Thomas and William was from Cork, Ireland. She was bound for [Sag Harbor?], New York with a load of rum, wine and 12,000 bushels of oats for the troops stationed on eastern Long Island.

On March 5, 1779, The Connecticut Journal announced there would be an auction on March 10,1779 to sell the armed Brigantine Ranger, 150 tons and 12 carriage guns, the Brigantine Peter, 150 tons and the Brigantine Thomas and William, 200 tons and their inventory. The Brigantines Peter and Thomas and William were built in Britain.

Conclusion

The red sandstone foundations of a number of eighteenth century homes in Sag Harbor are built from ballast stones from the Middletown area. The sandstone is a testimony to the active trade that took place between Sag Harbor, Long Island, and Middletown, Connecticut.

Middletown inhabitants were also active in military affairs at Sag Harbor during the American Revolution. The Meigs family originated in Guilford, but Return Jonathan Meigs was a native of Middletown. He, in concert with Brigadier General Samuel H. Parsons, also a resident of Middletown, Ct., organized and carried out a highly successful whale boat expedition to Sag Harbor in May of 1777. Their mission was to intercept and destroy forage and horses the British were collecting at Sag Harbor. Christopher Vail, a Sag Harbor resident in exile and one of the soldiers who participated in the Meigs expedition, noted in his diary, " We burnt all the coasting vessels which was all loaded and laid along side the wharf…"[ix]

There is a second eye-witness account to the sinking of ships in the port of Sag Harbor. Brigadier General Samuel Parsons wrote to George Washington on May 25, 1777, and reported "twelve brigs and sloops, one an armed vessel with twelve guns, about one hundred and twenty tons of pressed hay, oats, corn and other forage, ten hogshead of rum and a large quantity of other merchandise were entirely consumed" [in May of 1777].[x]

Since there are historical records of thirteen shipwrecks during the American Revolution on the floor of the harbor, there must be other undocumented sites as well! Shouldn't the archaeological community begin to document what is on the floor of the harbor before any recently proposed construction activities take place in the vicinity of the Long Wharf?

Searching the Harbor Floor For Shipwrecks

Henry W. Moeller SCHS #1753
and Donald Getz

On May 10, 1999, we placed a side scan sonar aboard our oceanographic vessel in order to examine the floor of the harbor at Sag Harbor, N.Y. We use side scan sonar to generate "sound pictures" of the ocean floor. A typical day's operation begins by deploying a transducer, more popularly known as a fish, over the stern of the research vessel. A steel cable is used to tow the fish and to transmit and receive signals. When successive beams of high frequency sound are transmitted from the fish they travel through the water column until they strike the bottom. Then they are reflected back creating a visual image on a recorder. A critical element in conducting remote sensing surveys and site evaluations is accurate positioning. Thus the "sound pictures" that appear on our recording device are continually integrated with accurate positioning data.

As we left the dock and motored across the end of the existing Long Wharf, we began to receive our first targets or sound pictures of the harbor floor. The targets were long logs used in the eighteenth century to make wharf cribs. Logs or hewn timbers were stacked in overlapping right angles with their joints notched and fastened like Lincoln logs to make wharf cribs. When first built the cribs resembled the base of a log cabin. The wharf crib was then floated into position and sunk with rocks or fill. The cribs were then capped with stone or smooth fill to make a roadbed. Once weakened by shipworm attacks and/or coastal storms the cribs fell apart and discharged their contents onto the floor of the harbor.

As our oceanographic vessel repeatedly crisscrossed in front of the Long Wharf, our sound pictures revealed we were looking at a much older Long Wharf on the harbor floor. The wharf we were looking at on the harbor floor was an archaeological site and one that extended many feet further out into the harbor than at present. Wharf cribs were not colonial American inventions, but were variations of the cribbing techniques used during Roman and medieval times. Condemned vessels were also filled with rubble to act as cribbage for a wharf.[i]

Does the historical record confirm the underwater archaeological observations? Southampton Town Records show on February 12, 1770, an association of men from East Hampton and Southampton acquired land to build a new wharf and when the new wharf was completed it was 495 feet in length and 35 feet in width. In 1808 the end of the existing pier was extended northward 300 feet and in 1821 the pier was extended so that it was 1000 feet in length to facilitate the expanding whale fishery.

It was from this wharf in September 1776 that many Southampton families fled to Connecticut to escape the oppression of the British.[ii] It was at this wharf that rebel forces destroyed twelve British ships during the Meigs expedition. And it was on the very same wharf on January 31, 1779, that the British army conducted a naval battle with the rebel forces in the harbor that culminated in the sinking of the Connecticut privateer, the Middletown.

When we continued exploring the harbor floor, further west of the Long Wharf we detected a second target. Was this target the Old Wharf; the one the Southampton Town Trustees selected in 1742?[iii] A map dated February 21, 1824, at the John Jermain Memorial Library and the accompanying papers found in the Trustees records indicate Abraham Rose and John P. Osborn were appointed to survey the Old Wharf in Sag Harbor in 1824. Additional side scan observations and surveyor records would be needed to confirm these preliminary observations.

What about shipwrecks in the harbor? A Sag Harbor Express reporter on July 19, 1860, wrote, "A portion of ...[Thames] once proud remains may now be seen near the south and east shore of our harbor, and at a short distance west of Conklins [sic] Point, exhibiting a sad spectacle of age and decay and ruins, to which all objects of human skill and contrivance finally approximate and ultimately arrived at, in this world of change, however distinguished or renowned in the annuals of the age in which their glory was displayed in so bright a manner. The end comes at last."[iv]

Southampton historian James Truslow Adams in his 1915 book entitled History of the Town of Southampton wrote, "The keels of the Thames and the Fair Helen are embedded in the sand off Conklin's Point."[v] The late Gene Rhodes, a Sag Harbor resident and a historian, remembers seeing the Thames keel among sand and marsh grasses in the 1940's or early 1950's. He noted that it looked like it had been there for a long time. He found it so interesting that he tried to get Sag Harbor residents to save it for future generations. When that failed he and others convinced Mystic Seaport to bring a truck over and transport the keel assembly back to their museum. Years later, conservators at the museum used the keel and the pieces of wood from the Thames to make an exhibit at the museum. They also covered the keel with a roof to prevent water damage. For devotees of wooden ship building technology, the keel assembly is an interesting exhibit. It is unfortunate however that one has to take a ferry ride to Connecticut to observe a part of Long Island's history.

> "The Thames was…built at Essex, [Connecticut] in 1818, by Captain Noah Scovell.
> For a few years following, she was employed in the London trade as a freighter and passenger ship from the port of New York and was commanded by Capt. Scovell jun.,a son of her builder and who the writer has a distinct recollection of in New York in 1819. In June 1822, she was purchased by a New Haven Whaling Company and was afterwards fitted out on a Sperm Whaling voyage from thence to the Pacific ocean; her master's name was Thomas Clasby, who, with most of her officers and crew were procured from Nantucket by the new beginners of New Haven.
> She was finally got ready at a most extravagant cost and expenditure and sailed from that port in October 1822, and arrived at Honolulu, (Oahu) Sandwich Islands, on 27th of April 1823 with fourteen passengers and a full crew for manning three whale boats. The passengers composing the second detachment of American Missionaries (including in the number their wife, assistants and domestics and also their secular Agent, Mr. Levi Chamberlain (died there in July 1849) … [The missionaries] having obtained the kind permission of the owners of the Thames to be furnished with berths and other accommodations in her, on their new and self-sacrificing missionary enterprize;[sic] the first or Pioneer company having left this country [in 1819] and arriving in safety at Honolulu on March 30, 1820. [At least one of the original emigrants] the Rev. Asa Thurston, a native of Massachusetts, is still there; a long and faithful and devoted laborer in this remote field of his Masters vineyard. I remember him at the time of his graduation at [Yale] in 1816."

The Sag Harbor Express reporter then described the twelve years the Thames worked as a Sag Harbor whaling vessel until May 1838 when "She [Thames] was then I believe set aside from future service by her enterprising owners, being twenty years old and deemed unseaworthy or unworthy of extensive repairs.

> “The Thames was of a singular model and was on all hands, considered as one of the fastest, if not the swiftest, sailing sea vessel belonging to this port and District, and I think maintained her superiority as such, during her whole twelve years…as a Sag Harbor whaler.
> I have been informed that during bad weather she worked her frame and timbers very much, so much so that her crews were even alarmed to perceive her open seams about her plank shears and the manner her whole frame would yield and twist during a boisterous sea and violent storm.”

The 1860 Sag Harbor Express newspaper writer implied that she was a fine ship that had served Sag Harbor whalers well. Did the ancient mariners regard her hull as a monument that no one wanted to see leave their company? Did they place ships in this category on “Rotten Row?”

As our oceanographic vessel plied back and forth in the harbor our side scan sonar revealed another archaeological target on the inside of the harbor floor. Was it a shipwreck? Could it be the Revolutionary War brig Middletown, or was it the Fair Helen or the Xenophon, or one of the twelve ships sunk during the Meigs raid, or something else we know nothing about?

Recently the Village of Sag Harbor has proposed reconstructing the breakwater in Sag Harbor. The question was raised whether that project might adversely impact possible archaeological sites on the floor of the harbor. Steven Resler, Supervisor of Consistency Review and Analysis for the N.Y. Coastal Management Program reported in response to Policy 23 that concerns archaeological preservation, “There will be no known impact on historical, cultural, archaeological or institutional uses as a result of this project.” His report was dated January 25, 2000 [vi]

Stan Michaelowski of the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers under section 4e relative to historical and research sites states that the question does not apply in his report filed on August 8, 2000. Mr. Michalowski stated that rocks were going to be removed and replaced on the breakwater and nothing was going to be disturbed on the harbor floor.[vii] What information was available to Mr. Resler and Mr. Michalowski to enable them to reach their management decisions? Have they forgotten Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 that requires federal agencies to do archaeological research around sites on the National Register of Historic Places?

The authors believe proper management of the floor of the harbor at Sag Harbor should be based on a comprehensive knowledge of fragile cultural resources that must be protected, as well as a knowledge of where these resources are not located, so that protection efforts could be directed to where they are needed. The primary tools used in an oceanographic survey are remote sensing instruments that are inherently nondestructive. To be accountable to the citizens, the U.S. Army Corp should do a management study. They should conduct a Phase I survey to answer the question: Is there historical material present on the floor of the harbor? Are there cultural resources that are going to be impacted by a construction project like the one planned? How can the US Army Corp develop a management plan if they are unaware of the resources on the harbor floor?

In 1987 the U.S. Congress passed the Abandoned Shipwreck Act (Public Law 100-298) that gave control of submerged sites to the individual states providing they developed a management plan. Unfortunately, New York has elected not to develop a management plan unless the federal government provided funding for it-- an unlikely event at present.

Will these archaeological sites on the harbor floor be destroyed by the U.S. Army Corp construction crews as they reconstruct the breakwater, or will they be protected for future generations of scholars to study? At this time, all we can hope for is that the New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation will demand the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers address the archaeological standards required for submerged sites on the National Register of Historic Sites. The Long Wharf is currently on the National Register of Historic Sites.

Long Island Militia Records, 1746-1760

Richard P. Baldwin SCHS #31

The militia documents cited in the following article, now housed at the Long Island Studies Institute at Hofstra University, Hempstead, New York, are from a remarkable collection of manuscripts of the Seaman, Birdsall and Jackson families of the Hempstead/Wantagh areas, accumulated by the maternal ancestors of the late William Carman, M.D., and his wife, Ruth (Garner) Carman, of Islip. Their son, William G. Carman, donated this collection of documents to Hofstra University[1] before moving to Spring Hill, Florida, in 1993.

Although some of the records have been transcribed, notably by Morton Pennypacker, with some of the original documents and copies of others in the East Hampton Library, East Hampton, N.Y., the majority are unpublished.[2]

With the use of some of these documents, this article is an attempt to shed light on militia activities on Long Island, generally in the Hempstead area, prior to 1765, a period of Long Island's history that is not well documented.

The militia was established by the Duke of York's Laws,[3] promulgated at Hempstead, Long Island, 1 March 1664/5: "MILITARY AFFAIRES. For as much as the good Management of the Militia is the Support of all Governments in Peace and Safety, to which all Persons of what quality soever and obliged in duty & Conscience in their proportions to be Aiding and Assisting to this good and these following Lawes are to be observed."

Following, some of these pertinent "Lawes" regarding the militia have been condensed:

. First, that every male person above the age of sixteen years except justices, sheriffs, high constables and under sheriffs, petty constables, ministers, and professional schoolmasters, physicians and chirurgeons [surgeons] . . . public notaries, masters of ships or vessels above twenty tons, constant herdsmen, or such as have bodily infirmity or old age shall be excused by the justices in any sessions, . . . [and] shall duly attend all military exercises and service as training, watching and warding, when they are . . . required and warned by their officers under the penalty of five shillings for every days default.

. Every town shall be provided with a sufficient watch house and a safe, convenient place thereunto adjoining for keeping powder and ammunition; . . . and the constable and overseers shall provide [for] the use of the town in case of necessity, one barrel of good powder, English weight; one hundred and fifty pounds of musket or pistol bullets; thirty pounds of good match [and] the inhabitants [are to] build, provide . . . and maintain the particulars recited above.

. . . . every male within this govenment from sixteen to sixty years of age [shall] be furnished from time to time and so continue well furnished with arms and other suitable provisions hereafter mentioned; under the penalty of five shillings for the least default therein; namely a good serviceable gun . . . to be kept in constant fitness . . . a good sword, bandeleer, or horn . . . one pound of good powder, four pounds of pistol bullets . . . four fathoms of serviceable match for match lock guns, four good flints for a fire lock gun. All captains or military officers are hereby required to give in or send an account yearly, to the governor and council, how the inhabitants are furnished and provided, that due supply may be ordered.

. That the constable and Overseers . . . of [each] town present to the governor three names of the most fit persons in their town to be captain, lieutenant, and ensign to whom the governor shall issue . . . commissions.

. No man elected into any military office shall refuse to accept . . . under the penalty of five pounds, one-half to be paid to the governor and the other half to him that is chosen in his place, and accepts thereof. The captain or chief military officer in each town is empowered once in three months at least every year . . . [to see] how every man is furnished with arms and ammunition.

. Every town . . . shall have every year four days of training . . . and . . . also in each Riding one in the year a general training . . . which may take up to three days time, the one in coming to the place appointed, the next for training, and the third for every one to return to their habitation.

. In the several trainings, all males above sixteen years . . . are to be taught and instructed in the comely handling and ready use of arms in all postures of war, [and] to understand all words of command . . . . The days to be appointed for private and general trainings shall be at the most convenient times of the year . . . . The Major General, or chief military officer shall [read] the names of the soldiers in the forenoon and afternoon, if he sees cause. Whosoever in any training day shall be totally absent, shall pay five Shillings for every such default . . . . Whosoever shall come late shall pay for each default one Shilling and for any other disorderly, offensive carriage [shall be fined] . . . and the Major General shall have one third and the other officers two thirds.

. All fines arising upon this account . . . are to be employed in the buying [of] drums, colors, halberds, and other necessary charges relating to the Militia.

. One-third of every company . . . is to be trained to use a match lock musket which no man. . . appointed by the captain shall refuse under the penalty of twenty Shillings . . . .

. The three chief officers of each company have power to punish any soldier or soldiers that commit disorder or contempt any day or time of military exercise within their town or upon any watch or ward, by stocks, riding wooden horse or other military punishments or by fine not exceeding ten Shillings . . . .

. If any person cannot procure arms or ammunition with such pay or means as he has, if he bring[s] to the captain so much corn as . . . apprized by the said captain . . . he shall be excused of the penalty . . . and the captain shall endeavor to furnish him [as] soon as may be by the sale of such goods so deposited . . . .

. If any person shall not be able to provide himself arms and ammunition through mere poverty, if he be single, he shall be put to service by the constable and overseers of the place where he dwells, or they shall provide him arms and ammunition, and shall appoint him when and with whom to work it out.

. No man shall be compelled to bear arms or wage war by sea or land [outside of] the bounds and limits of this goverment, but from defensive wars, no man shall be exempted.

. All soldiers shall be respectful to their officers . . . under the penalty . . . of five Shillings but [if] such disobedience happens before the face of an enemy, the person [shall be tried] by a court marshall, or . . . the Court of Assizes [who may impose] a fine or penalty upon the offender.

. If any man appointed to stand sentinel shall be found sleeping during that duty, whereby the lives of others are in danger, he shall pay forty Shillings or suffer other military punishment, but if he shall come off from being sentinel without being relieved, he shall forfeit five pounds.

. That no troop of horses shall exceed the number of fifty troopers besides officers: . . . .

. Every trooper . . . shall keep and maintain a good horse fitted with saddle, bridle, holsters, pistols or carbines and a good sword under the penalty of ten Shillings for the least default.

. Neither is it lawful for any trooper to sell or change his horse without his captain's consent under penalty of ten Shillings a day.

[5] It was the author's interest in the Gritman ("Gripman") and Verity ("Veryty") families that brought about my introduction to the documents of Dr. and Mrs. William Carman, of Islip. Dr. Carman was the family doctor, and Mrs. Carman knew of my genealogical interest in the Seaford/Wantagh/Massapequa branches of the Verity family.

Nathaniel Miller
1754-1798

Willis H. White SCHS #1858

Nathaniel Miller, the son of Timothy Miller and Experience Davis, was born "near break of day" 20 December 1754[1] in Miller Place, Town of Brookhaven, Suffolk County, New York. He died 9 October 1798[2] in Miller Place.[3] Nathaniel married his first cousin Martha Miller, probably in 1781 or 1782, probably at Miller Place.[4] She was born 09 February 1763[5] in Miller Place,[6] the daughter of Ebenezer Miller and Sarah Strong.[7] She died 7 October 1798[8] in Miller Place.[9] This is Nathaniel's story.

As a young bachelor during the Revolution, Nathaniel Miller was a social butterfly. He visited girl friends, gave them presents, attended "frolics," had his head shaved so he could wear a wig, bound his beaver hat with black silk, and raced his horse against Daniel Smith of Smithtown Branch.[10] But it was war time, and there was a more important issue. He was not sure which side to take. Nathaniel refused to sign the "Association Papers" in May 1775, after the Battle of Lexington,[11] but reversed himself by signing and joining the patriot cause a year later. He observed the "Day of fasting and Prayer… Ordered by the Congress" on 17 May 1776, yet hid in the woods for five days with three horses and a wagon to keep them from patriot requisition for war duty.[12] He made his decision in August, 1776, when the British conquered Long Island. He remained neutral.

The war seemed to have little impact on Nathaniel. In 1777 he turned his horse and oxen out to pasture earlier than usual for "want of hay,"[13] which may have been commandeered by the British, but he obtained passes that allowed him to make purchasing trips to New York City without harrasement.[14] He was a constable for the Town of Brookhaven in 1780,[15] a primary duty of which was to apprehend Nathaniel Smith for getting Thankful Norton "with child,"[16] and he was a fence viewer in 1782.[17] By December 1783, when the last contingent of British troops left Long Island, Nathaniel Miller was an established farmer, married with one child.

Nathaniel's farm life had a rhythm. He plowed in March; sowed flax, oats, and wheat in April; planted corn and potatoes, sheared his sheep and turned them out to grass in May; harvested hay, wheat and rye in July; cut and stacked salt hay in September; pulled and laid out flax to rot in October; killed beef and hogs in December; and smoked meat and took up flax in March. In between times he cut and shipped cordwood, gathered seaweed for fertilizer, and managed occasional supply trips to New York City.[18] Cordwood and flax were important cash crops. Both went to New York City, the former as firewood, and the latter as a source of linen fiber and linseed oil.

It took a lot of hands to run a farm, and while his children were young, Nathaniel relied on indentured servants. He had good luck with some, like Pomp Jack Jonathan, who came to him in 1787 at the age of 4, and was obligated to stay until age 21,[19] but others were a problem. In 1788, David Cook "Run away From me To his mother and there Stayd,"[20] but worst of all was Mary Rubin, an Indian, who stole food, candles, and blankets and ran away at least 6 times in 1791 alone. Recovering her was no small chore. One time Nathaniel rode 28 miles to find her "in very bad weather."[21]

Nathaniel's 180-acre farm bordered Long Island Sound between the Miller Landing Road and Mount Sinai harbor. It was a nice piece. Nathaniel's father bought it from Rachel D'Honneur by warranty deed in 1780[22] and Nathaniel farmed it from about that time forward. All was well until May 1792, when Jonathan Worth suddenly appeared with a 1755 mortgage against the property that he claimed had been given to Rachel D'Honneur and others, and remained unpaid.[23] Where the mortgage holders had been for 37 years is not revealed, but Worth caused Nathaniel untold problems. Worth filed a “Writ of Ejectment”[24] against Nathaniel to recover the property, and Nathaniel countersued to protect himself. Though the D'Honneur interests stood behind their warranty by reimbursing Nathaniel for his expenses through Attorney Garret Keteltas, Nathaniel was continually in a quandary: “Suppose Worth wins, what do I have left? May I remove timber from the land without having to pay Worth for it? Do I plant wheat, only to have it harvested by Worth?” At the time of the suit, Nathaniel was building a house. He had already purchased the timber, dug and stoned the cellar, and acquired shingles and boards. He suspended construction at the time of the suit, and by the time it was settled, he had sold his timber at a loss, and watched his boards and shingles deteriorate. He gave up the project.[25]

When and how the suit was settled is not clear, but by 1797, Nathaniel owned the property free and clear. Between May 1792 and December 1795, in order to gather information and consult with attorneys, Nathaniel Miller made 10 trips to places on Long Island, including court at Riverhead, and another 10 trips to New York City.[26] Worth's claim was more than just a nuisance.

In the meantime, Nathaniel became a church leader. He joined what is now the Mount Sinai Congregational Church in 1792, about two years after its organization, and in 1793 became its clerk, and one of the three chosen to “lead forward in the meeting.” In 1794 he accepted an appointment as ruling elder to help in church government and, from the time he joined, saw that his new-born children were baptized in the church.[27]

The year 1797 was a watershed. The New Year's day birth of Charles, who was to become Nathaniel's only male heir,[28] was followed on 16 March by a self-initiated auction that effectively ended Nathaniel's career as a farmer. He sold his 15 head of cattle, 3 horses and one hog. He sold his plow, rake, shovel, axe, scythe, hay fork and mattock; and his horse collar, harness, saddle, and bridle. He sold barrels, pots, tubs, kettles, and baskets, in short, most all his farm items, and some household furniture as well.[29] In April he resigned as church clerk;[30] leased his land to brother Timothy;[31] loaded his family on Phillips Brown's vessel;[32] moved to New York City, settled in a rented home; and on the first of May “began trade in New York” under the name of “Nathanael Miller and Samuel Brown In Co.” selling food and general merchandise.[33]

His timing was perfect. New York City was booming. European wars, primarily a result of the French revolution, created exceptional demand for American products, and the port of New York was ideally situated to funnel raw materials from the American hinterland. Between 1795 and 1800, exports to Great Britain increased three fold.[34] "Aspiring businessmen" flocked to the city such that the number of merchants jumped from 248 in 1790, to 1100 in 1800.[35] Meanwhile, the one-time farm family adjusted to its new environment. No longer did milk come from the cow in the barn, it came in bottles at the door, and a bonnet for Fanny or shoes for Anna were so much easier to purchase.[36]

But it was not to last. In August of 1798, 15-year old Anna got sick. It was yellow fever. Nathaniel left the city on the eighteenth for Miller Place,[37] where the rest of the family was visiting, in hopes that the country air would do her good, but it was to no avail. Three days later Anna was dead, and much worse, both Nathaniel and Martha got the disease—and died in early October. It was a devastating loss, not only for the remaining four children, but for the family as a whole. Nathaniel had been the family businessman. On his frequent trips to New York City he had acted as purchasing agent for his brothers and sisters, taking their money, making purchases and returning with their goods. He deposited family money in New York banks, served as an executor on the estate of both his father and his father-in-law, and at his store provided an outlet for some of the family's farm products. He was sorely missed.

The family drew together and made provisions for the children. Nathaniel's brothers Joseph and Timothy took Fanny and Charles, respectively, and Martha's widowed 58-year-old mother, Sarah Strong, took in Charity and Clarissa.[38] It is to their credit that all four children grew to be useful citizens, and though Nathaniel's 180 acres was no doubt utilized by his brothers in the interim, when Charles came of age, the land was his.

Correction: On page 54 of Volume XXV, no. 2, "The Daughters of Platt Arthur and Elizabeth Tillotson of Clay Pitts, Town of Huntington, Suffolk County, New York"- the name "Esther" beginning the third paragraph should read "Elizabeth".

Queries

PLEASE SEND ALL ANSWERS TO QUERIES DIRECTLY TO MEMBERS. WHEN SUBMITTING A QUERY, PLEASE TYPE OR PRINT CLEARLY ON AN 8" X 11" SHEET OF PAPER, MAKING SURE TO INCLUDE YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, AND CORRECT MEMBERSHIP NUMBER.

Submitters are requested to send copies of helpful responses to the Suffolk County Historical Society Library. This will enable the Library to add new data to its Surname Files and to assist future researchers.

31-XXV-1 Any information about "Frances Hallot" (Francis Hallet) who appears on the 1776 census, Town of Brookhaven, "above 50 years of age," living "...Northward of the Country Road." Served under Capt. David Mulford, 4th Co., Brookhaven.

31-XXV-2 Who were the parents of John F. (or E.) Hallet, probably Town of Brookhaven, died 5 February 1867, village of Islip, husband of Hannah L'Hommedieu, (parents also unknown) born 1796, Smithtown, died 1873, Islip?

Richard P. Baldwin, 198 Phyllis Drive, Patchogue, NY 11772-2958

2024-XXV-3 Need info on Edward Brower, b. 1817, d. 8 Aug. 1856, buried in Sammis plot in Babylon Rural Cemetery. Married Sarah A. Wood. Children: Amanda Brower, 2nd wife of Jonathan Sammis; and Sarah Brower, married Fred Smith. Who were the other children? I would like to correspond with anyone working on Brower, Wood, Sammis, and/or Smith lines.

2024-XXV-4 Need to know brothers and sisters of Charlotte Brower, b. 1822 in Babylon, married to Solomon Saxton on 1 Dec. 1842, d. 10 May 1905, buried in Babylon Rural Cemetery.

The REGISTER is published quarterly by the Suffolk County Historical Society. It is a free publication for Society members, and it is available by subscription only to libraries and institutions. The editing and preparation of all material contained in the REGISTER are done by the Register Committee, a volunteer group.

The Society welcomes the submission of articles for publication in the REGISTER. The articles should be about the history of a locality within Suffolk County, the genealogy of Long Island families, or general information on genealogical research. Bible records, records of small cemeteries, and other records of interest to genealogists and historians, which have not appeared in major publications, are greatly appreciated.

Society members are entitled to have three queries published in each issue. Queries cannot be accepted from non-members. Please limit each query to three typewritten lines, unless you are submitting only one or two queries, in which case they can be a little longer. Additional queries will be published for a fee of $1.00 each. If your queries are submitted to the Society with other business, please send the queries on a separate sheet of paper. Please include your name, address, and membership number.

All communications, contributions of material for publication, and queries should be directed to the editor, Mr. Edward Smith, at the Society's address below.

- Name: Thomas TERRY
- Given Name: Thomas
- Surname: Terry
- NSFX: Colonel
- Title: Colonel
- Sex: M
- Birth: 1727 in Southold,Suffolk Co.,New York
- Death: 24 DEC 1776 in Saybrook,New London Co.,Connecticut
- Note:

Colonel in American Revolutionary War, NY
An excerpt from "YOUNGS FAMILY" by Selah Youngs Jr., pages 241 and 242

Colonel Terry was a captain in the French and Indian War of 1747 and a colonel at the outbreak of the Revolution. He assisted in organizing the continental troops on Long Island and died in 1777.

Col. Terry was the third of the name to occupy the Terry homestead at Orient, Long Island, which is a representative of the best houses of that period in Orient. It was built before the year 1700 and is still standing. The illustration is from a photograph furnished by Mr. Caleb A. Dyer, a Terry descendant.

Excerpt from "THE REFUGEES OF 1776 FROM LONG ISLAND TO CONNECTICUT" pages
593 and 494

by Frederic Gregory Mather, Compiler and Editor of "New York in the Revolution" and "New York in the Revolution -- Supplement"

TERRY THOMAS (4) COL. (Thomas 3, 2, 1) - - From Oyster Ponds, in Southold, to Saybrook. On 22 July 1776, by order of the Convention, Col. Smith sent an Express to him and Colonel Mulford; and, on 29 July, Colonel Smith sent them money to pay the enlisted men. (G. 39) On 5

August, he mustered in the men o Lt. Joshua Youngs' Company. (. 38) In October 1776, with five passengers and effects, he was moved to Saybrook by Captains James Wiggins and Peter Griffing. (C. 14) He was in Saybrook in 1777. (A. 43)

He had been a Captain in the Indian Wars. (Wood's "First Settlements of Long Island," p. 137) He was Colonel of the third Regiment of Minute Men, Suffolk County (Page 88. Also G. 3, 8); and took part in the Battle of Long Island. The private of that name, in the same Regiment, may have been his own enlistment. (G. 8)

Census of 1776: Males -- above 16 years, 3; under 16, 4. Females -- above 16, 3; under 16, 1. (A. 55) He was born about 1726; married first Juliana Wiggins (?), send in 1752, Abigail, daughter of Constant and Abigail Havens, and sister of Dr. Jonathan Havens; died about 1777. His daughters were: Ruth (5), born 2 December 1752, married 1 February 1770, Daniel Tuthill; Abigail (5), born about 1753, married first in 1777, Captain Benjamin King, Junior, Tuthill and King were Refugees, second 18 November 1784, John Cleaves Terry, died 5 March 1823; Elizabeth (5), born in 1761, married Christopher Tuthill, Junior, died 23 April 1825; Mehitable (5), born 21 September 1764, married in 1780, Richard Chadwick. (Mallmann's "Shelter Island," pp. 242, 245) The Refugee, Davis Palmer, is stated to have been his son-in-law. Palmer had sons' Samuel (5) and Captain David (5). (Griffin's "Journal," pp. 205, 224) The Diary of Reverend Ezra Horton states that Colonel Thomas Terry died at Saybrook, Connecticut, 7 December 1776. For further information, see Ross' "History of Long Island," 2.

Thomas Terry (1607-72) from England on the "James" 1635; resided at Braintree, Massachusetts and New Haven, Connecticut. New England History and General Register Volume XV, Page 131. Long Island Early Affairs see Thomas Terry signed 1659 intended owner of Plantation to be transported from the town of Lynn, Massachusetts.

Thomas Terry came with brother, Richard in 1635. An early settler at Southampton then to Southold about 1655.

SOUTHOLD TOWN RECORDS - Volume I, page 43

Thomas Terry, died 1672, wife Marie died January 14, 1659. He left two sons, Daniel and Thomas, and daughters, Elizabeth, Ruth and Mary, who is supposed to have married James Reeves, who owned the lot adjoining Thomas Terry on the south. Daniel Terry lived upon the lot his father occupied, from the record of his home lot in 1686.

ABSTRACTS OF WILLS - LIBER 1-2. - page 25

THOMAS TERRY, SR. Southold. "I, Thomas Terry, Sen., of Southold, being very sicke and weake." Leaves to beloved wife (not named) fifteen bushels of corn yearly, during her life. Ten bushels to be paid by my son Daniel, and five by my son Thomas. Also household goods and four bushels of apples yearly. "And if my son Daniel marry, and they doe not like to live together, then my son Daniel shall build my wife a convenient house for her comfortable living." To daughter Elizabeth a cow when she marries or comes of age. Legacies to daughter Ruth and daughter Mary Reeve. To son Daniel "my house and accommodations within ye old bounds, and one half my land at Ackabache." To son Thomas all my land at Cutchock, and one half my land at Ackabacke.

From UNKNOWN BOOK, page CCXXXIV

Thomas Terry, born in England in the year 1607, came to New England in 1635, settled at Braintree, Massachusetts, removed Southold, Long Island in the year 1646, accepted as freeman of Connecticut in the year 1662.

Excerpt from "THE REFUGEES OF 1776 FROM LONG ISLAND TO CONNECTICUT"

by Frederic Gregory Mather, Compiler and Editor of "New York in the Revolution" and "New York in the Revolution -- Supplement"

TERRY -- According to Moore ("Index," pp. 39, 40), the original arrivals on Long Island were the brothers Thomas I and Richard I, who came from England in the "James," in 1635.

Thomas I, born in 1607; died in 1672. He was in Queens County, in 1661; and at Southold, from 1662. Among his sons were: Daniel (2), and Thomas (2). Daniel married Sarah - -; died 10 November 1706. Among his sons was Samuel (3), married Naomi Dicerson, in 1715-6; died in 1762. Thomas (2) married first Eliza - -; second perhaps Eleanor, Widow of George Havens; died probably 24 March 1724. He had a son, Thomas (3), who married Mehitable, daughter of Dea. Daniel Tuthull; died 17 January 1740. His sons: Colonel Thomas (4), below and Jonathan (4) born in 1713-4. (Moore, pp. 39, 40, 118, 119) Jonathan (4) married Lydia, daughter of Dea. Daniel Tuthill; whose daughter, Deziah (5) married James Griffin, the father of Augustus Griffin, the Historian. Ruth (4), daughter of Thomas (3) married Captain David Wiggins.
